The contents of this publication do not necessarily represent the official opinion or policy of the Department of the Army

The Human Resources Research Office is a nongovernmental agency of The George Washington University, operating under contract with the Department of the Army (DA 44-188-ARO-2). HumRRO's mission, stated by AR 70-8, is to conduct studies and research in the fields of training, motivation, leadership, and man-weapons system analysis.

Research is reported by HumRRO in publications of several types.

1. Technical Reports are prepared at the completion of a research Task or major portion thereof. They are designed specifically for a military audience and convey recommendations for Army action.

2. Research Reports may be prepared at any time during a Task. They are designed primarily for a research audience but may be of interest to a military audience. They report research findings of interest and value to the scientific community and do not recommend Army action.

3. Research Memoranda may be prepared at any time and need not be directly associated with a particular research Task. They report findings that may be of interest to a research or military audience or to both. They do not recommend Army action.

4. Consulting Reports are prepared following completion of a specifically requested consulting action under HumRRO's Technical Advisory Services. They are designed for a specific military audience and usually convey recommendations for Army action.

5. Research Bulletins are prepared as nontechnical summaries of one or more research Tasks or as reports of other HumRRO activities. They are intended primarily for a military audience and do not present recommendations for Army action. Their distribution usually includes agencies and individuals conducting research, and the general public.

Technical Reports and Research Bulletins may be requested from the Director's Office, which also issues a complete bibliography. Other publications may be obtained from the Director of Research of the originating Unit or Division.

Task SPECIAL

INTRODUCTION

This bibliography of paperbound books covers the various aspects of unconventional warfare.¹ Most of the items are both educational and easy to read and should prove particularly useful for lower echelons. The majority of these inexpensive books appeared originally in clothbound editions.²

There are various definitions of the term "unconventional warfare" but we have adhered to the following:

UNCONVENTIONAL WARFARE CONSISTS OF THE INTERRELATED FIELDS OF GUERRILLA WARFARE, ESCAPE AND EVASION, AND SUBVERSION AGAINST HOSTILE STATES (RESISTANCE). UNCONVENTIONAL WARFARE OPERATIONS ARE CONDUCTED IN ENEMY OR ENEMY-CONTROLLED TERRITORY BY PREDOMINATELY INDIGENOUS PERSONNEL USUALLY SUPPORTED AND DIRECTED IN VARYING DEGREES BY AN EXTERNAL SOURCE.³

Extensive and detailed annotations have been given to the time-tested and more serious books included in this bibliography. The brief annotations given to many of the books indicate the superficial nature of their treatment of the subject.

The publishers are listed alphabetically, with their addresses, on the last page. Each publisher entry is designated by a number; a corresponding number is included in each book item to indicate who published the book. The books described as "out of print" can no longer be obtained from the publisher; however, some copies may still be found on the open market.

1. An earlier version was published under the title of "Guerrilla War: Annotated Paperback Bibliography." Reprinted by permission of the copyright holder, the Marine Corps Association, publisher of the Marine Corps Gazette. Copyright (c) 1962 by Marine Corps Association.
2. For an extensive subject listing of books, documents, and articles see: "Research Bibliography on Guerrilla and Unconventional Warfare," and "Further References," in Modern Guerrilla Warfare: Fighting Communist Guerrilla Movements, 1941-1961, Franklin Mark Osanka (ed.), The Free Press of Glencoe, New York, 1962. All items in this listing were published before March 1962.
3. Guerrilla Warfare and Special Forces Operations, FM 31-21, Headquarters, Department of the Army, Washington, D.C., September 1961, p.3.

Altieri, James. THE SPEARHEADERS. 22. $.50.

The founding, training, and combat operations of Darby's Rangers in WWII. This highly readable book, by a former Ranger who rose from private to company commander, offers many lessons. The hit-and-run tactics of the Rangers, which have proven to be very effective counter guerrilla measures, merit considerable investigation today.

Appel, Benjamin. FORTRESS IN RICE. 2. $.50.

A novel concerning the Philippines after Pearl Harbor. The author feels that economic rather than political motivation has caused the wave of revolutions in the Far East. The author describes how the peasant guerrilla bands fought each other as well as fighting the Japanese. Some attention is devoted to counter guerrilla procedures.

Applegate, Rex. KILL OR GET KILLED: Riot Control Techniques, Manhandling, and Close Combat, for Police and the Military. 17. $3.96.

This easy-to-read, well-illustrated handbook first appeared in 1943. Since that time it has undergone five more editions and as many printings. The contents of this excellent volume are as follows: Introduction to Unarmed Combat; Offensive Unarmed Combat; Defensive Unarmed Combat; Knife Attack and Defense; Combat Use of the Hand Gun; Combat Firing with Shoulder Weapons; Disarming; Prisoner Handling and Control; Raids and Room Combat; Training Techniques and Combat Ranges; Elementary Fieldcraft; Police Baton and Miscellaneous Weapons and Techniques; Chemical Munitions and Control of Mobs and Individuals; Civil Domestic Disturbances and Their Control; Communist Tactics and Strategy in Directing Mob Violence; The Professional Riot Control Unit; Index. Colonel Applegate, a retired Army officer, was with the O.S.S. in WWII and took British Commando training. Since the end of the war he has devoted most of his time to the development of the subjects mentioned above.

Barnard, Charles N. (ed.). A TREASURY OF TRUE. 11. $.50.

An anthology of articles selected from True magazine. Of particular interest in this context are "Murder" by Michael Stern and "Prussian Lion of Africa" by John Gunther. The former is an account of an O.S.S. officer murdered by his own team behind the Axis lines in Northern Italy, and points out the need for selecting compatible Special Forces team members. The latter is an account of some of the exploits of Col. Von Lettow in Africa during WWI. Von Lettow, a formidable guerrilla tactician, is often compared with Lawrence of Arabia.

Boulle, Pierre. THE BRIDGE OVER THE RIVER KWAI. 5. $.35.

This novel centers around a British colonel who was taken prisoner by the Japanese and ordered to build a bridge over the Kwai River. British Special Forces with the help of local guerrillas have the destruction of the bridge as their mission. The colonel, possessed by the finished bridge, resists the commandos' mission.

Bowling, Jackson M. IN THE LINE OF FIRE. 24. $.50.

An American member of Castro's guerrilla forces relates his experiences.

Brelis, Dean. THE MISSION. 2. $.25.

This novel, based on the author's wartime experiences in Burma, describes the guerrilla activities of an O.S.S. sergeant behind the Japanese lines in Burma during WWII. The sergeant parachuted in, made contact with the friendly Kachins, trained, equipped, and led them in operations against the Japanese. An excellent account of a Special Forces mission. (out of print)

Brenan, Gerald. THE SPANISH LABYRINTH. 8. $1.95.

An extensive account of religious, social, political, and economic factors in Spain from 1874 to 1936. The Spanish Civil War is treated briefly. Vivid explanations of the role of the church and the working class organizations help the reader to understand the conflict. A serious study.

Brickhill, Paul. THE GREAT ESCAPE. 11. $.35.

The story of a group of American and British P.O.W.'s in a German prison camp and how they organized escape committees and tunneled their way out.

Brome, Vincent. THE SPY. (Formerly THE WAY BACK) 23. $.50.

The story of Pat O'Leary, a Belgian Army doctor, who organized an escape route in France to guide Allied airmen back to safety.

Burt, Kendal, and Leason, James. THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY. 4. $.50.

Two British journalists competently reconstruct the exploits of a German fighter pilot who was shot down and captured by the English during the battle of Britain. The pilot soon proved to be a daring, ingenious, and habitual escaper.

Castillo, Bernal Diaz del. THE DISCOVERY AND CONQUEST OF MEXICO. 14. $2.25.

A complete, trustworthy account of the Spanish conquest of Mexico. This is an edited version of the book, TRUE HISTORY OF THE CONQUEST OF NEW SPAIN, which appeared originally in 1632. The Mexican forces, led by Montezuma, utilized guerrilla tactics to thwart the progress of the Spanish invaders.

Castle, John. THE PASSWORD IS COURAGE. 4. $.35.

The story of Sergeant-Major Charles Coward who during five years spent in German prison camps made seven escape attempts, organized sabotage operations behind the lines, sent valuable information to the British War Office, worked with the Polish underground, and saved many people from the Auschwitz gas chamber.

Chamales, Tom T. NEVER SO FEW. 18. $.50.

A realistic novel of guerrilla warfare in Burma in WWII. The story centers around an American O.S.S. officer who organized, trained, and led Kachin guerrillas in operations against the Japanese. The author commanded a battalion of American Kachin Rangers behind the Japanese lines for a year and a half during WWII.

Collier, Richard. 10,000 EYES. 23. $.50.

A true account of the Free French Intelligence Service which gathered information about the German fortification of the Atlantic Wall prior to the D-Day invasion. The book portrays the role that men, women, and children played in a highly organized underground intelligence system.

Connor, Rearder. SHAKE HANDS WITH THE DEVIL. 11. $.35.

A novel concerning personal aspects of Ireland's fight for independence.

Cowles, Virginia. WHO DARES, WINS. (Formerly THE PHANTOM MAJOR)
4. $.50.

The story of David Stirling, a British officer, known to the enemy as "The Phantom Major." The author, a newspaperwoman who covered the desert campaign, vividly recounts how Stirling organized his small band of skilled commandos. Equipped with American jeeps and armed with automatic weapons, the S.A.S. raided airfields, blew up ammunition dumps, derailed trains, and ambushed convoys. An excellent account of desert unconventional warfare in Africa during WWII.

Cunha, Euclides da. REBELLION IN THE BACKLANDS. 21. $1.95.

This volume was first published in 1902 in Brazil. Since then at least 15 editions have been printed. The book is a detailed military account of the war between the poverty-stricken peasants, who adopted guerrilla tactics, and the Brazilian government, which maintained conventional military formations, at the siege of Canudos in 1896-1897. One of the best accounts of basic guerrilla and psychological warfare tactics. This book is often compared to Lawrence's SEVEN PILLARS OF WISDOM.

Davenport, Basil (ed.). GREAT ESCAPES. 2. $.35.

The editor has compiled 23 accounts of escapes from jails and prisons from 1200 B.C. to WWII. (out of print)

Deindorfer, Robert (ed.). TRUE SPY STORIES. 11. $.35.

An anthology of articles selected from True magazine concerning spies, O.S.S. agents, and commandos. In addition to being excellent reading, this collection of true stories offers many practical tips for future guerrilla leaders.

Devigny, Andre. A MAN ESCAPED. (Formerly ESCAPE FROM MONTLUG) 6. $.50.

A story of a seemingly impossible escape from the Gestapo by a French Resistance officer.

Ehle, John. THE SURVIVOR. 23. $.50.

A former German Storm Trooper joins the French Foreign Legion and fights communist guerrillas in Indochina.

Falls, Cyril. THE ART OF WAR. 15. $1.50.

The author presents a general discussion of war from the age of Napoleon to modern times. Of particular value in this context is his clear examination of "small wars" in Chapter Four.

Farago, Ladislav. WAR OF WITS. 19. $.50.

The author, who served as Chief of Research and Planning of the Navy's Special Warfare Branch during WWII, presents an excellent discussion of his experiences. Ample attention is given to intelligence, counterintelligence, and psychological warfare.

Feldt, Eric A. THE COAST WATCHERS. 4. $.35.

The story of the miners, planters, missionaries, and government men who watched and reported on enemy movements in the island area of the Southwest Pacific during WWII. (See also: Burns, R.C. "Coast Watchers," Marine Corps Gazette, August 1949.)

Fleming, Peter. OPERATION SEA LION. 4. $.50.

This is an account of German preparation and the British counter-measures for the invasion of England in 1940. The author was appointed to organize guerrilla units in various parts of the country. The actual and planned activities of these units are explained.

Foley, Charles. COMMANDO EXTRAORDINARY. 4. $.35.

Mr. Foley recounts the story of Otto Skorzeny, commander of a small group of German commandos. The author describes in detail Skorzeny's commando techniques, and the famous Gran Sasso raid is vividly portrayed. An excellent account of small unit tactics of special interest to Rangers, Recon Marines, and Special Forces personnel. For an excellent analysis of the Gran Sasso raid see Major B.F. Hood's "The Gran Sasso Raid," Military Review, February 1959.

Fremantele, Anne (ed.). MAO TSE-TUNG: AN ANTHOLOGY OF HIS WRITINGS. 18. $.75.

An anthology of some of Mao's military, political, and philosophical writings. This is an extremely valuable book in that the editor has reprinted Mao's best works on guerrilla war. These are: "Strategic Problems in the Anti-Japanese War," "On the Protracted War," and "Strategic Problems in China's Revolutionary War." All three of these articles were reprinted from SELECTED WORKS OF MAO TSE-TUNG.

Gary, Romain. A EUROPEAN EDUCATION. 2. $.50.

Easy-to-read fiction concerning Polish guerrillas in WWII. The story centers around a young boy who joined the guerrillas when his father was killed by the enemy. Of little tactical value.

Gazel, Stefan. TO LIVE AND KILL. 4. $.50.

A story of continuous escape and evasion told by a person who lived it. Gazel fought the Russians and the Germans when each invaded Poland. He described how mounted Polish guerrillas, with sabres as their only weapons, attacked a heavily armed German convoy. The guerrillas lost 8 men while killing 42 of the enemy.

Giovannitte, Len. THE PRISONERS OF COMBINE D. 5. $.50.

This novel centers around six American airmen in a German prison camp from 1944-45. One escape is described.

Goldstein, Bernard. FIVE YEARS IN THE WARSAW GHETTO. 3. $.95.

The story of the Warsaw ghetto and the Polish Jews who fought and died defending it. This highly readable account, told by one of the heroes of the uprising, depicts the heroism and leadership of the Polish ghetto underground.

Goodrich, Austin. STUDY IN SISU. 4. $.35.

An excellent account of Finland's fight for independence as well as the political and economic position of Finland today.

Hahn, W.F., and Neff, J.C. (eds.). AMERICAN STRATEGY FOR THE NUCLEAR AGE. 3. $1.45.

Communist strategy versus Free World strategy is covered in depth in this excellent collection of 33 essays prepared by American authorities. Of particular interest in this context are Stefan T. Possony's "Communist Psychological Warfare" and James D. Atkinson's "Unconventional Warfare."

Heiman, Leo. I WAS A SOVIET GUERRILLA. 13. $.35.

A Polish Jew tells of his life as a guerrilla with the Soviet Partisan Movement during WWII. One of the few firsthand accounts. Excellent accounts of basic guerrilla tactics, survival, escape, and evasion.

Heinrich, Willi. CRACK OF DOOM. 5. $.50.

A former German soldier tells of his encounters with Czechoslovakian partisans.

Hemingway, Ernest. FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS. 26. $1.95.

A novel concerning the mission of an American college professor who worked with the Loyalists during the Spanish Civil War. Working with a group of guerrillas he planned and executed his mission which was to blow up a bridge held by the enemy.

Hemingway, Ernest (ed.). MEN AT WAR. 6. $.75.

This paperback edition includes 37 of the 83 stories which appeared in the hardbound edition in 1942. The book is divided in eight sections as suggested by Clausewitz's ON WAR. Included are examples of guerrilla warfare such as, "Blowing up a Train" from Lawrence's SEVEN PILLARS OF WISDOM and "The Fight on the Hilltop" from Hemingway's FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS.

Hogan, Ray. THE GHOST RAIDER. 23. $.35.
RAIDER'S REVENGE. 23. $.35.

Works of fiction concerning the exploits of John Singleton Mosby during the American Civil War.

Howarth, David. SLEDGE PATROL. 4. $.35.

A vivid portrayal of the struggle for control of the arctic weather broadcasting station during WWII. This true adventure story concerns seven members of the North-East Greenland Sledge Patrol who withstood and outwitted an invading German task force. An excellent account of survival in the Arctic with a minimum of supplies.

Lampe, David. THE DANISH RESISTANCE. (Formerly THE SAVAGE CANARY)
4. $.50.

This book represents a rare description of the Danish Resistance movement. The underground newspaper, raids on V-2 component factories, imprisonment of the underground leaders and their eventual escape, are but a few of the events described.

Lawrence, T.E. SEVEN PILLARS OF WISDOM. 12. : .95.

This early classic on guerrilla warfare is by and about an Englishman who trained, organized, and led Arab irregulars against the Turks in WWI. The book, which was originally published in 1927, presents some principles of operation which are still applicable today. Unfortunately, these principles are often lost in the author's obsession for beautiful prose. Fortunately for the modern student of guerrilla warfare, Lawrence set down his thoughts on the subject in an article entitled "The Evolution of a Revolt" (The Army Quarterly, October 1920). In addition, some students of Lawrence have published very good studies; namely, R.A. Pavey, "The Arab Revolt" (Marine Corps Gazette, July 1950); O.B. Patton, "Colonel T.E. Lawrence of Arabia" (Military Review, October 1954); and "Extracts of Lawrence's Twenty-Seven Articles" (Military Review, October 1954). These articles should serve as an introduction to SEVEN PILLARS OF WISDOM rather than as a substitute for it.

Levy, 'Yank' Bert. GUERRILLA WARFARE. 20. $.25.

A do-it-yourself guerrilla warfare handbook which has long been out of print. Some copies might be found in book stores dealing in old books. A good portion of the book can also be found in an article with the same title which appeared in the Infantry Journal (now Army) in March and April 1942. Levy, a former guerrilla, offers many training ideas. Illustrations of some of Levy's techniques can be found in "How to Be a Guerrilla," Life, August 17, 1942. Perhaps, as the demand for guerrilla warfare materials becomes stronger, this book will be printed again.

MacLean, Alistair. THE GUNS OF NAVARONE. 2. $.35.

The story of a seemingly impossible demolition raid carried out by a small group of British Commandos. The mission, which called for excellent rock-climbing ability, was to destroy the German-held artillery batteries in the rock fortress of Navarone.

MacLean, Fitzroy. TITO. THE MAN WHO DEFIED HITLER AND STALIN. 4. $.75.

The author, Britain's emissary to the Yugoslav Partisans in WWII, describes the life of Josip Broz Tito. There is an excellent description of Tito's wartime leadership of partisans in Yugoslavia.

Morgan, W.J. THE O.S.S. AND I. 2. $.25.

The first part of the book deals with some of the tests given in England to prospective spies, saboteurs, and guerrilla leaders from some of the Allied countries during WWII. The rest of the book deals with the author's guerrilla activities with the French Maquis. The book should be of special interest to Special Forces personnel, Recon Marines, and readers interested in the reactions of men to danger -- simulated and actual. (out of print)

Ney, Colonel Virgil. NOTES ON GUERRILLA WAR. 10. $3.50.

An objective study of guerrilla warfare by an experienced retired Army officer. This hardbound guerrilla pocket book discusses the principles of guerrilla organization, training, and operations. The author has drawn upon past guerrilla operations to illustrate his points. Excellent use is made of charts, diagrams, and sketches. The book is designed for study and training purposes.

O'Flaherty, Liam. THE INFORMER. 18. $.60.

This exceptionally good novel tells the story of the fate of an informer in the ranks of the Irish underground army in the 1920's. Extremely realistic.

Ogburn, Charlton, Jr. THE MARAUDERS. 11. $.50.

This is the story of Merrill's Marauders in the jungles of Burma during WWII. Ogburn, a former Marauder, depicts the day-by-day exploits of the U.S. Army's behind-the-lines group. There are many lessons to be learned from the Marauders' guerrilla-type operations. An interesting book.

Onn, Chin Kee. SILENT ARMY. 4. $.35.

This story, told by a Chinese Malayan teacher, is realistically detailed and offers many practical ideas for future guerrillas. The Japanese invasion of Malaya and the subsequent guerrilla formations and activities are vividly described. The book offers insight into the functions of the communist guerrilla bands and their preparation for post-WWII activities.

Payne, Robert. LAWRENCE OF ARABIA. 23. $.50.

One of the better biographies of Thomas Edward Lawrence of WWI fame. Although the book is primarily concerned with Lawrence's true personality there are sections on guerrilla operations and these are quite well presented.

Phillips, C.E. Lucas. THE GREATEST RAID OF ALL. 22. $.50.

The planning, development, and execution of the Commando raid on the German-held St. Nazaire Harbor in WWII. This unpretentious account makes clear that careful planning, surprise, audacity, discipline, and esprit de corps are an almost unbeatable combination in guerrilla-type operations.

Pinto, Oreste. SPY CATCHER. 6. $.35.

The art of catching and interrogating spies and special forces agents as practiced by a Dutch expert who worked for the British during WWII. In the first chapter, the author lists the qualities of the ideal counterspy. Chapter Two deals with the extraction of information from suspects without using physical force. The next eight chapters deal with actual cases and the author's role in them. In the eleventh and final chapter the author stresses the importance of perfecting our counterintelligence procedures. A highly interesting and readable book.

Pratt, Fletcher. THE BATTLES THAT CHANGED HISTORY. 3. $.95.

An easy-to-read, informative account of battles which, the author maintains, changed the course of history. He presents some vivid descriptions and some equally clear arguments for his choices. Many of the battles discussed have unconventional warfare value.

Reid, P.R. ESCAPE FROM COLDITZ. (Formerly THE COLDITZ STORY) 6.
$.35.

A British officer's account of his imprisonment in and eventual escape from the German-held Colditz Castle during WWII.

Reitz, Deneys. COMMANDO: A Boer Journal of the Boer War. 7. $.50.

A long out-of-print personal narrative of the Boer War in South Africa in 1899. An excellent selection from this 1930 edition can be found reprinted in IRREGULARS, PARTISANS, GUERRILLAS edited by I.R. Blacker (New York: Simon and Schuster, 1954.)

Reynolds, Quentin. 70,000 TO 1. 23. $.35.

A story concerning an American airman's life of hide and seek with the Japanese on New Britain. With the help of local natives and ingenuity the airman survived.

Reynolds, Quentin. OFFICIALLY DEAD. 23. $.40.

The story of the life of an American P.O.W. in an "escape-proof" Japanese prison. The American's escape attempt is particularly enlightening.

Rogers, Robert. JOURNALS: REPRINTED FROM THE ORIGINAL EDITION OF 1765.
9. $1.50.

The famous (and, needless to say, rare) text on irregular warfare by the founder and leader of "Rogers' Rangers" of French and Indian War fame. Seeking the reasons for the great successes of Major Rogers, Lord Loudon (Commander in Chief of British forces in North America in 1757) asked Rogers to set down in writing his rules of small-unit warfare. The result is a small handbook which has much to apply to this, the age of guerrilla wars.

For an excellent comparison of Rogers' methods and some modern principles see "Rogers' Rangers -- Recon Company 1757," by J.R. Cuneo and J.C. Scharfen (Marine Corps Gazette, pp. 36-41, March 1961). For further information about Rogers see the standard work on the subject, ROBERT ROGERS OF THE RANGERS, by John R. Cuneo (New York: Oxford, 1959).

Roske, R.J., and Van Doren, C. LINCOLN'S COMMANDO. 23. $.35.

The story of the daring exploits of Lt. William Cushing, U.S. Navy during the Civil War. Cushing's unconventional coups brought him to the attention of Lincoln who assigned him the task of sinking the Confederate ironclad Albemarle. With a few men, two small wooden launches, and a makeshift torpedo, he commenced his raid.

Roy, Jules. THE WAR IN ALGERIA. 14. $.75.

A French Algerian, in an attempt to present an accurate picture of the current Algerian rebellion, interviews individuals from both sides, participates in night patrols, and examines available documents. The result of his efforts is this controversial book which became a best seller in France in 1960.

Sanderson, James Dean. BEHIND ENEMY LINES. 23. $.50.

Accounts of Allied and Axis unconventional warfare in WWII. Included are accounts of Italian frogmen, British commandos, Norwegian saboteurs, French Resistance workers, and others. Sanderson presents an excellent cross-section of various types of unconventional warfare.

Sargant, Dr. William. BATTLE FOR THE MIND. 20. $1.45.

Dr. William Sargant, a leading physician in psychological medicine, discusses and illustrates the basic techniques used by psychiatrists, brainwashers, and evangelists to disperse the patterns of belief and behavior already established in the minds of their subjects and to substitute new patterns. Dr. Sargant gives evidence of scientific findings from history and cites Chinese Communist techniques. An excellent and timely book which should be of interest to all.

Snow, Edgar. RED STAR OVER CHINA. 14. $.95.

This is a paperback edition of a book that appeared originally in 1937 and was the first book to present a thorough account of Chinese Communism. Snow spent months talking to Mao Tse-tung and other Chinese Communist leaders. The author presents a factual account of some of the Chinese guerrilla operations, and this book has been used as a guerrilla handbook on a number of occasions.

Spector, Ivar. THE FIRST RUSSIAN REVOLUTION: Its Impact on Asia.
26. $1.95.

The author contends that the Russian Revolution of 1905 influenced subsequent Asian revolutions more so than did any other revolution. This work is well documented and offers valuable insights to an understanding of modern social movement in Asia, and perhaps Africa.

Strutton, Bill, and Pearson, Michael. THE BEACHHEAD SPIES. (Formerly THE SECRET INVADERS). 1. $.35.

Covers the formation and development of England's amphibious reconnaissance teams in WWII. Their task was to survey beaches prior to troop landings. The story of the training and operations of these underwater teams is both educational and interesting. Special Forces personnel will find this book especially interesting.

Thomas, Lowell (ed.). GREAT TRUE ADVENTURES. 12. $.50.

Mr. Thomas has compiled 29 adventure stories, many of which can be considered accounts of unconventional warfare. Of special interest is "Adventures in Arabia" selected from T.E. Lawrence's REVOLT IN THE DESERT.

Thomas, Lowell. WITH LAWRENCE IN ARABIA. 22. $.50.

An easy-to-read popular treatment about T.E. Lawrence (Lawrence of Arabia). The 68 excellent illustrations which appeared with the 1924 edition are not included in this reprint. Lawrence established himself as a most able guerrilla leader, so much so that many students of guerrilla warfare insist that his writings influenced Mao Tse-tung in the early days of the Chinese Civil War.

Thorn, Duane. A RIDE TO PANMUNJOM. 25. $.35.

One of the few books about Americans in Korean P.O.W. camps that emphasizes American solidarity and strength rather than defection and weakness. This is an exceptionally good book and has been used in the U.S. Navy training program for a number of years.

Uris, Leon. EXODUS. 5. $.75.

Broadly speaking, this novel by the author of BATTLE CRY, is the story of the events leading to the establishment of Israel as the Jewish National homeland. The author recounts the actions of Jews in European ghettos against the Germans and the activities of the various Jewish resistance groups against the British.

Uris, Leon. THE ANGRY HILLS. 18. $.50.

This novel, by the author of BATTLE CRY, EXODUS, and MILA 18, describes the adventures of an American agent trying to escape from occupied Greece. He is aided by the Greek Underground.

Waldron, T.J., and Gleason, J. THE FROGMAN. 6. $.35.

The story of the development and use of underwater demolition teams by the British in WWII. THE FROGMAN, as well as THE BEACH-HEAD SPIES, will give the non-specialist an adequate appreciation of the techniques of underwater demolitions work and beach reconnaissance which have become a standard part of the operations of conventional armies. (out of print)

Warnow, Morton. FORCED MARCH. 18. $.35.

This novel depicts the adjustment to the rigors of life as a P.O.W. in a Nazi prison camp during WWII.

Weyl, Nathaniel. RED STAR OVER CUBA. 16. $.50.

The author maintains that Castro's revolution was a Communist-dominated movement right from the start, and provides documentary proof of this contention.

Williams, Eric. THE TUNNEL ESCAPE. (Formerly THE TUNNEL) 6. $.35.

A tale of life in a German prison camp and the many escapes and escape attempts of the inmates. (out of print)

Williams, Eric. THE WOODEN HORSE. 6. $.50.

The story of three British P.O.W.'s who escaped with the help of one wooden vaulting horse under which a tunnel had been dug. The three prisoners, with the help of the Danish Resistance, reached England.

Wynne, Barry. COUNT 5 AND DIE. Introduction by Gen. Wm. Donovan, Director, Office of Strategic Services. 4. $.35.

The story of "Operation Stampede" and the O.S.S. agents and Resistance leaders who made it a success. Operation Stampede was designed to convince the Germans that the Allied forces would invade Holland in 1944.

Zacharias, Ellis M. SECRET MISSIONS. 19. $.60.

Autobiography of a U.S. Naval Intelligence Officer who was sent to study and understand the Japanese in the early '20's. The story involves espionage, counterintelligence, and psychological warfare.
