AWARDING THE ORDER OF THE RED BANNER TO THE ARMAVIR HIGHER MILITARY AVIATION SCHOOL OF PILOTS FOR AIR DEFENSE

Armavir, 13 March. (From our correspondent.) The Armavir Higher Military Aviation School of Pilots for Air Defense of the Country is training fearless aerial fighters. During the years of Great Patriotic War hundreds of its alumni fought on the fronts and proved to be models of bravery and fearlessness. Seventeen of them were awarded the lofty title of Hero of the Soviet Union. Now the school is producing pilot engineers. By Ukaze of the Presidium of the USSR Supreme Soviet the school has been awarded the Order of the Red Banner for great services in training officer personnel for the Soviet Armed Forces and in connection with the 50th anniversary of the Soviet Armed Forces. On 11 March, a solemn ceremony awarding the order to the school took place. In the name of the Presidium of the USSR Supreme Soviet and on the instructions of the Minister of Defense, Marshal of Aviation Ye. Ya. Savitskiy fastened the order to the Banner of the military-educational institution and warmly congratulated the aviators for their high decoration.

In his reply, the school's director, Major General of Aviation I. M. Somov, expressed gratitude to the party and the government for the high decoration and assured them that the personnel of the school would spare no strength or energy to attain new successes in the training of highly-qualified pilot-engineers.

The commander of the outstanding squadron, Lieutenant Colonel V. I. Davidok, and officer candidate-graduate A. I. Gorchakov spoke at the ceremonial meeting. The Armavir aviators warmly greeted from the Armavir workers - the secretary of the party's city committee, V. I. Lelyukh, representatives of the local party and Soviet organs, and young pioneers.
