EDUCATION OF THOSE CONVINCED.

In the academies and the schools.

On the outcome academic year in military academies and the schools. For their collectives it is significant fact that it passed under the sign of the execution of the resolution by the CC CPSU "about the measures for further development of social sciences and increase in their role in the building of Communism". To us, to the educators of future officers, this important document it indicates the efficient ways of an improvement in the ideological training of graduates. We we know that in the military forces they await from us the commander in appearance of whom high military training and the systematic skills they are combined with the intimate knowledge of Marxist-Leninist theory, with the solid Communist conviction, by the ability to bring up subordinates, to be active wires of the policy of the Party. To the formation of these qualities we direct we its main efforts.

It is recalled the return of the great group of the senior students of our school from the army practice period. There cadets they tried its forces in the functions which after the termination of studies they will become first stage of their officer practice. In essence we they are satisfied by the results of practice period. And not only we - they are satisfied and commanders, under whose leadership perform cadet-probationers. Yesterday's schoolboys they increase on our eyes. It does seem, long ago it stepped over the threshold of school cadet A. Chekhovskikh, and on the practice period it revealed itself by erudite, loving his profession specialist, thoughtful organizer of the political educational work.

They recommended well itself on the practice period cadets Yu. Bolotskikh, V. Blachenkov. After cadet A. Aleshkin it was fastened the glory of explanatory propagandist. It arrived at it after the number of successful appearances before the soldiers. It is in order to emphasize that active participation in the political educational work, in clarification of military policy and resolutions of the party it became the characteristic feature of our cadets. Thus several numbers: only for one semester the cadets of the fourth course they read 80 lectures also of reports, conducted 70 political informations and more than 90 conversations. Certainly, not all these performances were faultless, but its role and the acquisition of the skills of the political educational work they undoubtedly they played.

Great, varied work on education in the cadets of these skills, according to the formation of Marxist-Leninist ideology, the communist consciousness they conduct the instructors of the department of Marxism-Leninism. Political department is closely related to this collective, its effect on the work of department it is carried out on many directions. First of all this increase in the ideological-theoretical preparation of instructors, their general scientific, special and pedagogical qualification. Yet so long ago in the department it was not several teachers whom on they increased its professional/occupational level, they were satisfied by the knowledge, obtained in their time in VUZ. We they indicated to party organization how fraught such position, they made conclusions, also, for itself. For anyone in the department it was necessary to yield the place for officers, more prepared for the teaching of social sciences. Now here each second instructor it has scientific degree.

With the active participation of the workers of political department in the school regularly they are conducted theoretical conferences, seminars and conversations. The party organization of department it established durable bonds with the departments of the social sciences of other VUZ of garrison, studies their experience it uses it in its work. In the department it was born the idea of conducting combined occupations. Political department it supported beginning. Thus, seminar on the theme "Questions of theory and practice of communist construction and materials and resolutions of the XXIII Congress of CPSU" it was carried out jointly with the department of Marxism-Leninism of Kazan' highest tank command school.

Recently the instructors of the department of Marxism-Leninism they were with colleagues in Kharkov highest command-engineering school, Penza highest artillery school of engineering. Upon the return they they made reports at the systematic conferences.

They were noticeably raised recently the quality of lectures, the procedure of studies and seminars. And in this one cannot fail to see combined efforts of the party organization of department and political work. The representatives of political department are in the object boards, they - indispensable participants in the conferences of the departments in which they are discussed lecture. Thus, during the discussion of lecture "education of Soviet soldiers in the spirit conscious military discipline" the deserving attention to recommendation it expressed the worker of political department officer S. Sirotkin.

All this it helps the instructors of department to be armed with knowledge and skills without which not thought instruction and the education of future officer, to conduct studies at the high ideological-theoretical level, interestingly, intelligible. Many of them they use the distinguished respect and the love of cadets. This, first of all, the head of the department colonel A. Kontsevoy. Its lecture, seminars, conversation they are characterized by high scientific level, they excite interest in the object/subject, phenomena and events in them they are opened from class-party positions, are tightly connected with the present.

I cannot but name also the senior instructor of this department Lieutenant Col. V. Kadykov. Excellently prepared, industrious teacher, it won enduring/permanent authority both in its associates and in cadets. The comrade of adams apples it teaches philosophy - object/subject complicated and for teaching and for the mastering. But it knew how to wake up the students have authentic interest, love for this object/subject. On its initiative it is created the small circle, where the cadets deepens its philosophical knowledge, obtained in the planned/planning occupations, they study the problems of military theory and practice. Some works of circle members are published obtained positive appraisals. According to the main result of the work of small circle it consists perhaps not so much of those abstracts, that they wrote cadets, as in the fact that entrainment by philosophy it helps an increase in their ideological conviction, beneficially it has effect on their relation to the service. Above I already mentioned the cadet of Chekhovian ones. This one of the members of circle led by lieutenant colonel V. Kadykon. But in the small circle all such. I will name at least some: Chebanenko, Kapayev, Kozhayev, Fomenko.

Each, even small step/pitch in an improvement in the teaching of social sciences it brings satisfaction. All the more pleasantly, when it not one. However, all this it goes without saying it cannot serve as base for complacency. I described at first about the successful practice period of cadets. But indeed necessary to recognize that not all probationers they justified our hopes. On further improvement in the work on the Communist education of cadets it went conversation on meeting in the political department when we they listened to the report of the head of department colonel A. Kontsevy about the state of the study of the social sciences.

This exchange of opinions, undoubtedly, it will bring benefit to department. Its party organization operationally it reacts to the critical observations. It is remembered, so it was, when instructor A. Sakmarov, conducting exercises in the group which it previously conducted its associate V. Pereverzev, it focused attention on the fact that in some cadets it was formed incorrect opinion about the value for them of the object/subject of political economics - they considered that to commanders the knowledge of political economy necessarily only "inasmuch as since".

Communists of department thoroughly discussed this case in its collective. To comrade Pereverzev it was indicated to the fact that he could not deeply explain to the cadets, such as role, the place for political economy in the formation of ideology. And then the party organization of department jointly with the party organization of course conducted great explanatory work among the cadets.

It is near the day when the recurrent vanguard of graduates it will leave the walls of native school. From the course on course they move on the educational stairs other our wards, and on the threshold already of the youth of new student set. The sphere of action of our instructors of social sciences, political workers, thus, it always remains wide, responsible. And we we know that there are even numerous reserves of further improvement in the ideological education of cadets. Untiring to search for them, to actuate - this it means to seriously affect the quality of training the convinced, skillful, courageous officers - the defenders of the native land.

Colonel N. Dybalin, the head of the political department of Kazan' command-engineering college.
