FOREWORD

This Index is reissued under the authority of DoD Instruction 1312.1 "Maintenance of DoD Occupational Conversion Manual," July 27, 1981. It applies to the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) and the Military Departments (including the Coast Guard when it is or is not operating as a Military Service in the Navy). The term "Military Services," as used herein, refers to the Army, the Navy, the Air Force, the Marine Corps, and the Coast Guard. DoD 1312.1-M, "Occupational Conversion Manual," June 1991, is hereby canceled.

This Index reflects an occupation coding structure, designed to group similar occupations from one or more populations into a logical and consistent structure suitable for a variety of analytical purposes. Each Military Service has placed its occupations within this DoD Taxonomy.

DoD Components may obtain copies of this Index through their own publication channels. Other Federal Agencies and the public may obtain copies from the U.S. Department of Commerce, National Technical Information Service, 5285 Port Royal Road, Springfield, VA 22161.

INTRODUCTION

This index is a compilation of DoD officer and enlisted occupational specialties and Civil Service "white collar" and "blue collar" occupations under two similar occupational grouping structures. The first structure contains enlisted occupations, certain occupations in the General Schedule (GS) series, and most wage board occupations; the second structure contains commissioned and warrant officer occupations, the remainder of the GS occupations, and a few wage board occupations.

These two structures are documented in the tables that follow the introductory material. The third tabular section is an index, organized by occupation within Service/Civil Service. For each occupation, a corresponding title is displayed, along with the DoD Occupation code to which it is assigned.

This index is intended to serve as an occupational coding structure, designed to group similar occupations from one or more populations into a logical and consistent structure suitable for a variety of analytical purposes. Some of these include serving as a guide to the Office of the Secretary of Defense in manpower management and policy planning, to the Military Departments for various personnel administration functions, and as a basis for statistical reports. The enlisted section catalogs military and civilian occupations into 10 one-digit areas, 69 two-digit groups, and 160 three-digit subgroups. The officer section places military and civilian occupations into 9 one-digit occupational areas and 64 two-digit occupational groups.

Please note that this conversion index does not represent a binding policy on similarity of occupations. Each Military Service has placed its occupation within a DoD taxonomy, and all Service submissions were then compiled to derive the approximate equivalence suggested by the taxonomy (see Technical Notes).

The June 1991 edition of this publication is now obsolete.

TECHNICAL NOTES

(Unless otherwise indicated, the word "Service" should be taken to include Civil Service as well as the Military Services).

1. The allocation of military and civilian occupational specialties to the various DoD occupational groupings has been based on a careful analysis of the duties of each specialty, as described in the various occupational indexes published by each Military Service and the Office of Personnel Management. While positions with duties and responsibilities that have been judged similar are grouped together, these positions are not necessarily identical; they may vary considerably as a result of inter-Service differences in mission, equipment, and concept of personnel utilization and development. (For specific descriptions of the duties and responsibilities of the occupations listed in the Conversion Tables, the user is referred to the aforementioned occupational indexes - see References).

2. Military Officers have responsibilities above and beyond those inherent in any specific occupational specialty. These responsibilities, such as discipline, training, and planning, have not been used as a basis for allocating the officer occupations to DoD groupings.

3. Occupational Groups 1A and 1B in the Officer Tables are of limited value as indicators of the specific occupational content of the jobs within them. The former is intended to cover all jobs which are filled by Officers of General or Flag rank. The latter has a similar limitation with respect to the Marine Corps, as all its full Colonel occupations are placed in this category. The codes in these groups cover a wide range of occupational content and these General/Flag Officer and Colonel positions are filled on a name basis by the Services.

4. The differentiation between Groups 4B and 4C in the Officer Conversion Tables is an arbitrary one necessitated by the Services' utilization of officers concerned with electrical and electronic equipment. Positions requiring electronic and electrical engineers and/or background in these fields are included in both groupings. All such officers whose primary concern is with communications and radar are included under Group 4C; all others are coded under 4B.

5. The absence of any entries for a Service under a particular DoD group or subgroup may indicate one of the following:

(a) The specialty or function does not exist in that Service. For example, there are no dentists (officer Group 6C) or dental care specialists (enlisted Group 33) in the Marine Corps; these functions are performed by Naval personnel for both Services.

(b) The function does exist but is encompassed in one or more occupations classified under another DoD group. For example, the Marine Corps has no entry under DoD Group 2F, Tactical Operations Officers, Missiles. This function is included within the duties of MOS 7204, Anti-Air Warfare Officer, which is coded under 2E, Ground and Naval Arms.

(c) Groups of jobs in one Service may not have a distinguishing specialty designation because the nature of the job groups differs from Service to Service. For example, Air Force officers working as Inspectors General (IG)(DoD Group 7L) do not carry an IG code but carry the Air Force Specialty Code for the kind of work they are doing within the IG function.

The following notes refer to both occupational coding systems.

Female military personnel are not permitted to serve in combat or combat-related assignments. Where it is possible to link particular military occupations with such combat assignments, these occupations are footnoted in the tables. However, the nature of the occupational coding systems for Air Force and Navy officers does not always permit a distinction between combat and non-combat assignments on an occupation-by-occupation basis. It is possible for a female Naval officer serving ashore to hold the same NOBC as a male officer serving aboard a combatant ship. Thus, while no "closed to women" references appear in the tables for Navy and Air Force officers, the general restriction against combat service nonetheless applies.

7. The following is a brief, general explanation of the Services' occupational codes as they appear in the tables

Army Enlisted - The military occupational specialty (MOS) code consists of five basic characters, the first three of which are generally sufficient, for the purposes of this index, to distinguish one specialty from another. The first three characters consist of two numbers and one letter; collectively, they identify the specialty without regard to level of skill. The fourth character is a number which, in combination with the preceding three characters, indicates skill level within the MOS. The fifth character is a letter or a number that identifies special qualifications which are common to a number of positions and MOSs.

Navy Enlisted - Occupations are identified by a two- or three-letter rating designation and/or a more detailed four-digit Navy Enlisted Classification (NEC) code. The rating indicates a general field in which the individual has gained expertise. The NEC reflects special knowledge and skills that identify personnel and requirements when the rating structure is insufficient by itself for manpower management purposes. In general, the first two digits of the NEC relate to the rating held by the individual possessing that NEC; the last two digits complete the designation of the special skill possessed. When an occupation in the tables is identified by a two-letter rating designation only, the positions or personnel referred to are those not identified by more specific three-letter ratings or NECs. When an NEC alone is listed (i.e., those beginning with 33, 82 or 83), that NEC may be paired with any of several related ratings. Those NECs beginning with 53, 95, or 99, also shown without a rating, are known as Special Series NECs. They are not related to any particular rating and may thus be awarded to individuals possessing any rating. While these Special Series NECs stand alone as occupations and are categorized as such in the tables, it should be understood that the primary qualifications of the individuals possessing them are indicated by those individuals' ratings and/or rating-related NECs.

Marine Corps Enlisted - A four-digit military occupational specialty (MOS). The MOS describes a group of related duties and responsibilities that extend over one or more grades. The first two digits designate the occupational field (OccFld), the third digit identifies the promotional channel, and the fourth identifies the specialty within the OccFld. MOSs of the 8000-9599 and 9600-9999 groups are used to identify additional skills of individuals and are not necessarily occupationally related.

Air Force Enlisted - A five-digit AFSC, the first two of which indicate career field, and the third and fifth of which indicate further specialization within career field. The fourth digit, often shown in the tables as "X", is indicative of skill level. Those codes running from 99000 to 99107 are called Reporting Identifiers, which identify authorizations or individual airmen that are not identifiable in the classification structure and do not have specialty descriptions written. Special Duty Identifiers, beginning with 99500, identify position authorizations and individual airmen who are performing a group of tasks unrelated to any specific career field.

Coast Guard Enlisted - Occupations are described by a five-digit number; the first three digits describe the rate and the last two are the pay grade. In addition, there is a more detailed two-letter, two-numeral or combination letter/numeral Coast Guard Enlisted Qualification Code (QC). For the purpose of this Index the first three digits are displayed.

Army Commissioned Officer - A three-digit specialty skill identifier (SSI), consisting of two numbers and one letter which are used to identify the specialty skill requirements of a position and specialty skill qualifications of officers. Reporting classifications are coded similarly (all begin with the digits 00) and are used to identify General Officers and USMA professors and their positions as well as all officers who are in a non-duty status (students, patients, etc.).

Army Warrant Officer - An MOS code consisting of four characters, which include three digits and one letter, with each providing successively more precise identification of the occupational skills being coded. The three digits define a military occupation, while the letter is used to designate separately definable qualifications within a military occupation because of major systems or skill differences. Reporting codes, analogous to those for commissioned officers, begin with two zeroes.

Navy Officer - The coding structure used for Navy Officers is different for each of the three occupation codes (Primary, Secondary, and Duty). Coding for the three occupation codes is obtained as follows:

Duty Occupation - A four-digit Navy Officer Billet Classification (NOBC), which identifies a group of officer billets that are similar, but not necessarily identical in scope and in nature of duties. When used to identify a billet, an NOBC is a general statement of duties performed to accomplish some part of an activity's mission. When used in officer classification, a NOBC reflects qualifications required as a result of performance in a billet or, in some instances, a combination of experience and education related to the billet's requirements. The first digit of the NOBC identifies the broad occupational field (e.g., Personnel), the second, the group within the field (e.g., Performance), and the third and fourth digits indicate the specific billet classifications within the group (e.g., Corrections Officer).

Primary Occupation - Composed of a four-digit Designator and the most current three-digit Additional Qualification Designator (AQD-1). The first three digits of the officer designator codes are used to group officers by categories for personnel accounting and administrative purposes. The fourth digit is used to determine the status of the officer in the various categories. Additional Qualification Designator (ADQ) Codes enhance Designator codes by identifying more specifically the qualifications of officers and the qualifications required by a billet or awarded to the incumbent of a billet. The first character of the alpha-numeric code identifies a broad occupational area closely related to the designator. The second character specifies the qualifications appropriate to that occupational area with the third character further defining the specific qualifications.

Secondary Occupation - Composed of the first four digits of the most current five-digit Subspecialty Code. The fifth digit states the level of the education/training/experience pertaining to the field and is not used in creating Secondary DoD Occupation Codes. Subspecialty codes define the field of application and additional education, experience and training qualifications needed to satisfy special requirements within an occupational field. Subspecialties are applicable to the Unrestricted Line, Restricted Line, and Staff Corps. They are not applicable to Flag Officer billets nor to Warrant Officer and Limited Duty Officer personnel.

Marine Corps Officer - A four-digit military occupational specialty (MOS), the first two of which designate the occupational field (OccFld). Occupational field 99 consists of identifying and reporting MOSs which are not necessarily occupationally related.

Air Force Officer - A four-digit Air Force Specialty Code (AFSC), the first two of which indicate a basic area called utilization field and the last two of which indicate a particular specialty within that field. With some AFSCs, a letter suffix, called a specialty shred-out, follows the four-number code; this indicates further specialization within these AFSCs. Each AFSC listed in the officer tables has an associated entry level AFSC ending in 1, which is not listed. In addition, certain aviation AFSCs have an associated AFSC ending in 3, also not listed; this AFSC designates intermediate skill level, while the listed AFSC designates highest skill level. Those codes running from 0001 to 0115 are called Reporting Identifiers, which identify authorizations and individual officers that are not identifiable in the classification structure and that do not have specialty descriptions written. Finally, those codes beginning with 09 are called Special Duty Identifiers, which identify authorizations for and officers assigned to and performing an actual group of tasks on a duty basis. These duties are unrelated to any specific utilization field, and the different Special Duty Identifiers are not occupationally related.

Coast Guard Commissioned Officer - An eight-digit Experience Indicator is used for each Commissioned officer in the grade of Ensign through Captain. The first and second digits show the officer's primary occupational field. A primary occupational field is assigned when an officer completes resident training (normally graduate school) and when that officer is requested to fill a billet using that resident training. Third through eighth digits are additional Experience Indicators. For the purpose of this Index the first two digits are displayed.

Coast Guard Warrant Officer - Occupations are identified by a three-digit specialty code.

Civilian General Schedule - A four-digit number indicating series, the first two digits indicating the occupational group of which the series is a part.

Civilian Wage Board - A four-digit occupational code, the first two of which indicate a general wage family.
