STREET INDEX OF PEIPING

[Following is a translation of an index compiled by the Geological and Topographical Office of the Peiping Municipal Urban Planning Control Bureau (Pei-ching Shih Ch'eng-shih Kuei-hua Kuan-li Chu Ti-chih Ti-hsing K'an-tse Ch'u). The index is 15 pages in length and was published in October 1958 by the Pei-ching Ch'u-pan-she. To maintain intact the original format, no attempt has been made in this translation to change the order of place names, which is arranged according to the number of strokes in the Chinese characters. The translation follows.]

Explanation of Usage:

1. The city area of Pei-ching embraces a large territory and a great many of streets and lanes. This index is compiled to assist the user in locating the main streets in that city. Most of the place names on the map are included in this index.
2. This index is printed and arranged in order according to the strokes of the first character of each place name. On the right side of each place name is the index number which indicates the position of a given place on the map. For instance, the index number of T'ien-an-men is "V-4." This shows that T'ien-an-men is located in the square where column "V" (vertical) and column "4" (horizontal) intersect. Other places on the map can be located in the same manner.

3. Complex characters are used on the map and in the index; however, the first character of each place name in the index is printed and arranged in accordance with abbreviated characters.
