ABSTRACT This conference grant supported the Parkinson's Action Network (PAN)'s 13th Annual Research and Education Forum for Parkinson's patients, their families/caretakers and advocates held February 11 to 13, 2007 at the Washington Plaza Hotel, Washington, DC. This forum brought together some of the foremost doctors and scientists working on Parkinson's research to share their work with patients and leaders in the Parkinson's community. PAN's Research and Education Forum serves as a premier educational program for Parkinson's physicians, patients, researchers as well as leaders in the Parkinson's community. The primary goal of the Forum is to bring together these various stakeholders so that they can share information and learn about the latest developments in Parkinson's research. Through plenary sessions, workshops and networking opportunities, participants will learn about the latest research and discuss creative ideas for new research endeavors. Fundamental to the success of the Forum is the premise that visiting scientists and researchers can learn from each other and from Parkinson's patients and caregivers.

Introduction

The Parkinson's Action Network (PAN) held its 13th Annual Research and Education Forum for Parkinson's patients, their families/caretakers and advocates from February 11 to 13, 2007 at the Washington Plaza Hotel, Washington, DC. The Forum brought together some of the foremost doctors and scientists working on Parkinson's research to share their work with patients and leaders in the Parkinson's community. 300 Parkinson's patients and families/caretakers attended "live" and more than 2000 Parkinson's advocates have participated in the program via web cast to date. The U.S. Army's Medical Research and Material Command's grant of $45,000 helped to support this important research and education program.

PAN's Research and Education Forum serves as a premier educational program for Parkinson's physicians, patients, researchers as well as leaders in the Parkinson's community. The primary goal of the Forum is to bring together these various stakeholders so that they can share information and learn about the latest developments in Parkinson's research. Through plenary sessions, workshops and networking opportunities, participants will learn about the latest research and discuss creative ideas for new research endeavors. Fundamental to the success of the Forum is the premise that visiting scientists and researchers can learn from each other and from Parkinson's patients and caregivers.

Body

This year's forum provided several informative panels including: researchers from the Morris K. Udall Parkinson's Disease Research Centers of Excellence; leaders from the Neurotoxin Exposure Treatment Research Program (NETRP); and a panel of doctors and researchers who will discuss Embryonic Stem Cell Research.

- Breakout Sessions
 - 1) "PD & Environmental Advocacy 101: What do iron, pesticides and lab rats have to do with me?"
 ~ Jackie Hunt Christensen
 - 2) Parkinson Treatment Development: Unclogging the Pipeline ~ Ken Cater, Linda Herman, Greg Wasson, Peggy Willocks, Paula Wittekind
 - 3) How To Make The Maximum Contribution As a PD Advocate With The Least Amount of Effort
 ~ Bill Clinch, Davis Brown, Bill Franklin, Steve Elliott
 - 4) Can I Get a Witness? The Art and Craft of Telling Your Personal Story ~ Ann Wasson
 - 5) Relationships & PD
 ~ Michael Church & Gretchen Garie

This project was directly relevant to the Department of Defense's Neurotoxin Exposure Treatment Research Program (NETRP) since Parkinson's Disease is a central focus of this program because of the importance of environmental factors, such as exposures to specific toxins, in the disease.

Conclusions

PAN's 13th Annual Research and Education Forum provided a total of 2,300 Parkinson's patients and their families/caretakers with important information about Parkinson's disease research. Parkinson's physicians, patients, researchers as well as leaders in the Parkinson's community came together for a 3-day program packed with plenary sessions, workshops and networking opportunities.
