Purpose

This Force Structure Announcement (FSA) addresses Air Force Fiscal Year 2011 (FY11) force structure, realignment, and management actions supported by the FY11 President's Budget (PB). This document provides a summary of the civilian and military personnel changes and reassignment of aircraft at Air Force bases for FY11 and supersedes all previous FSAs and Roadmaps to include the FY08 Roadmap.

- The FSA reflects decisions to provide unsurpassed Global Vigilance, Global Reach and Global Power...to fly, fight and win in air, space and cyberspace – today and in the future given available resources
- The Air Force has worked to achieve the proper balance across our personnel, infrastructure, readiness, and investment portfolios and is fully committed to supporting overseas contingency operations
- These force structure changes enhance the Air Force's ability to create, protect, and sustain all air and space forces across the full range of military operations; the FSA directly supports new and emerging missions for the Air Force

The Fiscal Year 2011 budget proposal reflects a commitment to the twelve Air Force Core Functions which provide the framework for investment and training

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Nuclear Deterrence Operations

The AF continues to strengthen its excellence in the nuclear enterprise

Key decisions being reviewed/evaluated by the Air Force in the near to mid-term timeframe include investments in the current ICBM system to maintain its viability/capability through 2030

FY11 PB continues to invest in sustaining strategic legacy bomber fleet while pursuing modernization and recapitalization of nuclear capable systems

FY11 PB continues to refine the requirements for developing a new long-range stand-off weapon system

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Air Superiority

Air Superiority and Global Precision Attack remain the foundations of our ability to deliver Global Power

In FY11, we will modernize our Combat Air Forces (CAF) by improving F-22s with electronic protection features, by procuring preferred munitions (AIM-120D and AIM-9X), and by continuing upgrades on our legacy fleet, such as AESA/IRST development

The USAF will take delivery of 19 F-22s in FY11 and begin installing Increment 3.1, an upgrade which will provide Synthetic Aperture Radar mapping, Small Diameter Bomb capabilities, electronic attack improvements, Geolocate and Joint Direct Attack Munition retargeting. We will also continue to install AESA radars on our F-15C/Ds.

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Space Superiority

America's ability to operate effectively across the spectrum of conflict is enabled by our space capabilities

We will launch several new satellites, including the Global Positioning Satellite Block IIF, Advanced Extremely High Frequency (AEHF), and Space Based Infrared System (SBIRS) – recapitalization programs which are important to both the US and its partner Nations

- Capabilities provided to the Joint Force:
1. Early Warning
 2. Space Situational Awareness
 3. Military Satellite Communications
 4. Positioning, Navigation and Timing
 5. Weather

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Cyberspace Superiority

Operating within the cyber domain has become an increasingly critical requirement for our networked force – the Air Force is committed to developing the necessary capabilities for a strong cyber domain defense

Continue to develop the cyberspace workforce by normalizing and continually improving training thus integrating Air Force cyberspace capabilities into the new USCYBERCOM joint structure

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Global Precision Attack

Air Superiority and Global Precision Attack remain the foundations of our ability to deliver Global Power

The Air Force takes delivery of 11 F-35s in FY11 and continues to modernize the legacy fighter & bomber force to increase effectiveness and survivability while meeting the requirements of today's Joint Force Commanders

We continue to invest in preferred munitions for precision strike (JASSM and SDB)

The Air Force is reviewing options for fielding survivable, long-range surveillance and strike aircraft as part of a comprehensive phased plan to modernize its bomber force.

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Rapid Global Mobility

Replacing the aging KC-135 fleet remains the Air Force's top acquisition priority

The C-17 and C-5 programs of record, 223 and 89 respectively, meet current mobility requirements. The recent mobility study will guide future fleet management decisions

Balancing C-130J recapitalization with C-130E retirements provides the Joint Force Commander with improved intra-theater airlift capabilities

With 38 C-27Js the Air Force is "all in" to provide time-sensitive/mission-critical airlift which will directly support our joint partners

Global Reach ensures our joint team can deploy, maneuver and sustain large forces on a worldwide scale

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Special Operations

Responding to growing requirements for Irregular Warfare (IW) and the increasingly important role special operations forces play in today's fight, we continue to expand special operations capabilities

We are committed to enhancing special operations capabilities by procuring MC-130Js and CV-22Bs, recapitalizing AC-130Hs, and expanding special operations ISR force structure

We are recapitalizing our MC-130E/P fleet with newer, more capable MC-130Js for low-level air refueling, infiltration, exfiltration, and resupply of special operations forces

We are growing the Gunship fleet from 25 to 33 by recapitalizing with modified MC-130Js

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Command and Control

The Air Force has established Air and Space Operations Centers (AOCs) aligned with each Combatant Commander to integrate air, space, cyber and missile defense capabilities into joint operations

The Air Force is also training additional terminal air controllers and equipping them with increasingly capable, portable and flexible air strike control systems such as Remote Operated Video Receiver (ROVER) version 5

We have improved our Theater Air Control System (TACS) to account for increasingly distributed air-ground operations in Iraq and Afghanistan

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Personnel Recovery

Personnel Recovery (PR) is an imperative and an enduring Air Force Core Function

SecDef directed CSAR RECAP using existing platforms; AF developed bridging strategy to sustain legacy platforms ahead of RECAP

The current CSAR plan acquires Operational Loss Replacement UH-60M aircraft and funds for HH-60G RECAP program startup

Integrity - Service - Excellence

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Building Partnerships

We continue to seek out opportunities to build and strengthen our teamwork with partner air forces. Programs like the Joint Strike Fighter, SAC C-17 and LiMA/LAAR bolster our interoperability and enhance our long-term security cooperation capabilities and capacity

We are also enhancing partnership relations via programs like the Joint Strike Fighter and the Wideband Global SATCOM (WGS) system

U.S. AIR FORCE

Air Force Core Functions

Agile Combat Support

Underpinning the work of all Air Force Core Functions are the capabilities included in Agile Combat Support

Air, space and cyberspace power relies on a myriad of combat support activities that Airmen provide on the ground. These include functions like force protection, engineering, other combat support functions and military medicine. Agile combat support is a vital part of what the Air Force provides the nation

Shaping the Force

Air Force End-Strength

Currently 507,900 members of our Regular, Reserve, and Guard are dedicated to the mission of the Air Force. In accordance with SECDEF guidance, we will increase active duty manpower to 332,200, the Air Force Reserves will increase to 71,200, and the Air National Guard will remain at 106,700 in FY11. Our civilian cadre increase to 192,569.

The increased Air Force end strength supports new and emerging total force missions while robusting existing missions such as the Nuclear Enterprise, acquisition excellence, ISR, enhanced irregular warfare and building partnership capacity.

Air Force civilians remain an integral part of the Total Force team. The main drivers for civilian end-strength increases are contractor to civilian conversions, joint basing, acquisition excellence, ISR, fitness assessment cells, and warfighter and family services.
