SERVICE ACADEMY 2006 GENDER RELATIONS SURVEY

Defense Manpower Data Center
Human Resources Strategic Assessment Program
1600 Wilson Boulevard, Suite 400, Arlington, VA 22209-2593

Acknowledgments

Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) is indebted to numerous people for their assistance with the Service Academy 2006 Gender Relations Survey (2006 SAGR), which was conducted on behalf of the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness (OUSD[P&R]). DMDC's survey program is conducted under the leadership of Anita Lancaster, Assistant Director for Program Management, and Timothy Elig, Chief of the Survey and Program Evaluation Division.

Policy officials contributing to the development of this survey include: Gail McGinn, Deputy Under Secretary for Plans (OUSD[P&R]); Darlene Sullivan, Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army, Manpower and Reserve Affairs; Susan Roberts, Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Manpower and Reserve Affairs; and Maj Douglas Wall, Chief, United States Air Force Academy and Accessions Activities Division, Directorate of Learning and Force Development, Deputy Chief of Staff, Personnel. Other important contributors to survey development include researchers from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, Louise Fitzgerald, Fritz Drasgow, and Alayne Ormerod.

Survey-related logistics requirements were arranged by Jim Rodgers, SRA International, Inc. Mr. Rodgers coordinated with representatives from the Service Academies, who were invaluable in helping DMDC with reviews of the survey instrument and survey administration. DMDC is grateful to LTC Michael Johnson, Dennis Kelly, and Douglas Gallagher (U.S. Military Academy [USMA]); CAPT Glenn Gottschalk, USN (Ret.), Susan Warren, and Lou Cox (U.S. Naval Academy [USNA]); and Kathleen O'Donnell, Lt. Col. Tony Klucking, and TSgt. Denise O'Connor (U.S. Air Force Academy [USAF]).

DMDC's Program Evaluation Branch, under the guidance of Timothy Elig, acting Branch Chief, is responsible for the development of questionnaires used in DMDC's survey program. The lead developer of this survey was Rachel Lipari, Team Lead. Karen Wessels, under the guidance of Rachel Lipari, designed the unique presentation of complex items used in this tabulation volume. She was supported in these efforts by Megan Shaw, Consortium Research Fellow.

DMDC's Survey Technology Branch, under the guidance of James Caplan, Branch Chief, is responsible for constructing and archiving survey databases, programming to code survey responses, and producing data for tabulations and briefings. The lead analyst of this survey was Margaret Emma Holland, SRA International, Inc.

DMDC's Personnel Survey Branch, under the guidance of Richard Riemer, former Branch Chief, and Jean Fowler, current Branch Chief, were responsible for sampling and weighting methods used in the 2006 SAGR. The lead statistician on this survey was Michael Paraloglou, SRA International, Inc.

SERVICE ACADEMY 2006 GENDER RELATIONS SURVEY: ADMINISTRATION, DATASETS, AND CODEBOOK

Introduction

The Human Resource Strategic Assessment Program (HRSAP), located at Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC), consists of both Web-based and paper-and-pencil surveys to support the personnel needs of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness. These surveys assess the attitudes and opinions of the entire Department of Defense (DOD) community—active, reserve, civilian employees, and family members—on a wide range of personnel issues. The Service Academy 2006 Gender Relations Survey (2006 SAGR) is the third of five congressionally mandated surveys designed to track gender relations issues at the Service Academies in response to the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) for Fiscal Year (FY) 2004. The first survey in this series was conducted in 2004 by the Department of Defense (DoD) Inspector General (IG).¹ 2006 SAGR used a paper-and-pencil survey administration to obtain data on sensitive topics and provide anonymity to respondents.

Overview of Report

The following section of this report describes the procedures used to develop the instrument, design the sample, conduct the survey, process the data and prepare analysis weights. Along with the survey instrument and communications to the sampled students (A and B, respectively), the methods section details how the survey was conducted

The third section of the report describes the survey analysis file layout and key variables. This section and the remaining appendices (C-K) address issues in the analysis of the survey data. Key concepts required for the analysis of complex survey data and the structure of records in the survey analysis files are introduced in this section. Here is an overview:

- Conventions for variable naming and construction are introduced in this section with details given in C (annotated questionnaire), and D (coding scheme).
- E, F, and G give the names and values of all variables in the basic-survey dataset and the Privacy-Act confidential variables.
 - E lists the variables in alphabetic order and flags the Privacy-Act confidential variables with an asterisk (*).
 - F lists the variables in the order that they appear in the dataset. It groups variables with the same function together, i.e., all variables used for weighting are located together.
 - G provides a frequency of each variable with the SAS values, OS flat file values and SAS labels in the same order that the variables are listed in F. In addition to the variables available on the basic survey file, G contains details for the confidential variables that had to be suppressed to preserve the privacy of survey respondents and nonrespondents.

- H provides the record layout for the basic survey flat file.
- The SAS code used to construct the analytic variables are included in I.
- Examples of analyses are provided in J.
 - K lists all questionnaire items if and where they have been used in recent DMDC surveys.

Method

Survey Instrument

The 2006 SAGR was modeled on 2005 Service Academies Sexual Assault Survey (2005 SASA). A copy of the survey is provided in A. The survey was subdivided into the following eight topic areas:

1. Background Information—Service Academy, gender, and Academy class year.
2. Education and Training—Effectiveness of training in sexual harassment and sexual assault and understanding of related actions (knowledge of what constitutes each offense, reporting, receiving assistance, etc.).
3. Academy Culture—Gender differences in standards, opportunities, and treatment. Academy and student leadership's support to stop sexual harassment and sexual assault, impact of personal loyalties on reporting sexual harassment and sexual assault, and perceptions of safety from being sexually harassed or sexually assaulted.
4. Unwanted Attention—Experiences of unwanted behaviors.
5. Unwanted Gender-Related Experiences—Experiences of unprofessional, gender-related behaviors (including sexual harassment). Details include type of behavior experienced, duration of the situation(s), when and where situation(s) occurred, characteristics of offenders, to whom behaviors were reported, and if applicable, actions taken in response to report and reasons for not reporting.
6. Unwanted Sexual Contact (USC)—Details pertaining to experiences of unwanted sexual contact since June 2005. This section includes items on specific behaviors experienced during one event with the greatest effect, when and where the event occurred, whether alcohol/drugs were involved, characteristics of offenders, to whom behaviors were reported, and if applicable, actions taken in response to report and reasons for not reporting.
7. Prior Experiences—Sexual harassment and sexual assault experiences before admission to a Service Academy.

8. How Are We Doing—Sexual harassment and sexual assault as more or less of a problem since becoming a student, experiences of sexual harassment and sexual assault during summer experience/training/duty, and comparisons of sexual harassment and sexual assault with civilian colleges/universities.

A paper-and-pencil instrument was fielded to insure the confidentiality of the respondents. The surveys did not have any identifying or matching feature (e.g., a litho code) to match survey responses to sampled students. The instrument contained instruction text to explain skip patterns.

Sample

The sample consisted of 2,106 female and 4,022 male students drawn from the sample frame constructed from student rosters provided to DMDC by each Academy. The Academies in the population are: the U.S. Military Academy (USMA), the U.S. Naval Academy (USNA) and the U.S. Air Force Academy (USAFA). Each Academy attempted to remove students who were ineligible to take the survey (i.e., non-U.S. citizen or visiting students) from their rosters. A single-stage, non-proportional, stratified random sampling procedure was employed to ensure adequate sample sizes for the reporting categories. This process necessitated taking a census of the female students from each Academy.

Stratification Variables

The sampling frame was constructed using the three stratification variables listed in Table 1. These three variables were used to create stratification cells. A single variable, V_STRAT, was created as an index variable for the strata.

Stratification Variables

Dimension of Stratification	Levels
Gender	Male Female
Academy	U.S. Naval Academy U.S. Military Academy U.S. Air Force Academy
Class	2006 2007 2008 2009

Researchers identified subgroup breakouts (i.e., domains) that would be important when survey results were provided to policy officials (Table 2). These reporting domains appear in the Tabulations of Responses (DMDC Report No. 2006-015) and in the Overview Report (DMDC Report No. 2006-016).

Table 2.
Factors Defining Key Reporting Domains

Factors	Levels
Gender	Male Female
Academy	U.S. Military Academy U.S. Naval Academy U.S. Air Force Academy
Class	2006 (First-year) 2007 (Second-year) 2008 (Third-year) 2009 (Fourth-year)
Sexual Harassment	Experienced SH Not experienced SH
Unwanted Sexual Contact	Experienced USC Not experienced USC

After the strata and domains were constructed, the total sample size and its allocation to the sampling strata were determined. The following formula was used to determine the allocation for each stratum:

$$n = \frac{NZ^2 p(1-p)}{e^2(N-1) + Z^2 p(1-p)}$$

Where: N = Stratum Size

Z = 1.96 (2 SD)

p = 0.5 (prevalence rate)

e =0.05 (precision)

Then the resulting allocation was multiplied by the inverse of the response rate (obtained from the 2005 SASA survey) to come up with the final sample size.

Constructing the Frame and Drawing the Sample

Each Service Academy provided student rosters to DMDC to develop the sampling frame, construct strata, and determine the sample size and allocation. Each Academy roster included students who were ineligible to take the survey (i.e., non-U.S. citizen or visiting students). The ineligibles were identified and recoded for weighting procedures during survey administration. The population definition resulted in a sampling frame of 4,046 students from USMA, 4,320 from USNA, and 4,214 from USAFA. A single-stage, non-proportional, stratified random sample of 1,743 USMA cadets, 1,970 USNA midshipmen and 2,415 USAFA cadets were selected. Table 3 presents a summary of the sample allocation by Academy.

Sample Losses

The original sample file contained 6,128 records. Losses to the drawn sample are listed in Table 4 and reviewed here. Sample members were lost from the sample for three reasons: (1) ineligibility for the survey (exchange student, separated from the Academy, or a foreign national), (2) inability to locate the sample member, and (3) refusal to participate in the survey or failure to complete the survey.

Thirty (30) sample members (0.49%) were lost from the final sample through classification as ineligible. Elimination of ineligibles resulted in decreasing the sample to 99.51% (N=6,098) of its original size.

Final Sample Relative to Drawn Sample

	Sample Size n	% of Drawn Sample
Drawn sample	6,128	100
Ineligible on Academy roster files	30
Total: Ineligible	30
Eligible sample	6,098	99.51
Not located	49
Total not located	49
Located sample	6049	98.71
Returned blank	404
Did not complete 50% of survey items	540
Skipped critical questions	772
Total: Nonresponse	774
Usable responses	5275	86.08

Losses attributable to unable to locate sample members resulted in a sample that was 98.71% of the drawn sample. Individuals in the remaining sample may be further categorized as nonrespondents versus respondents. Nonrespondents included the following groups: 404 sample students who returned blank surveys, 540 sampled students who did not complete 50% of survey items and 774 sampled students who skipped critical questions.²

Respondents included all sample students who completed 50% of applicable questions,³ and the critical questions.⁴ At the conclusion of the survey fielding, 5275 eligible, locatable students returned usable surveys.

Since this was an anonymous paper survey, the dataset only has values for sampled students who were briefed and either opted to take or not take the survey. The dataset does not have records for the 30 ineligible students or the 49 students who could not be located.

² These nonresponse categories are not mutually exclusive. If a sampled member returned a blank survey, then they also did not complete 50% of survey items and did not answer the critical questions.

³ Applicable questions are those to be completed by all respondents. This excludes items that could be skipped depending upon prior answers.

⁴ The critical questions for this survey were: 1) at least on answer to Q19a-t (Unwanted Gender-Related Experiences behavior list) and 2) a valid response to Q32 (Unwanted Sexual Contact experience).

Location, Response and Completion Rates

Beginning in 1995, DMDC standardized its methods for calculating response rates and completion rates using procedures patterned after those advocated by the Council of American Survey Research Organizations (CASRO). CASRO noted that varying operational definitions of response rates can lead to problems or confusion (e.g., when awarding contracts requiring pre-specified response rates or when interpreting the results of a survey). As a result, CASRO formed a task force to recommend guidelines for standardizing the operational definitions of response rates. The new DMDC procedures closely follow CASRO's Sample Type II design (see Council of American Survey Research Organizations, 1982).

Table 5 provides location, response, and completion rate information. The location rate is defined as the proportion of eligible sample students that were locatable. The response rate is defined as the proportion of eligible sample students that returned usable surveys. The completion rate is defined as the proportion of the located sample that returned usable surveys.

Table 5.
Location Rates, Response Rates, and Completion Rates

	Observed Operational Rates	Weighted Operational Rates
Location rate for eligible	99.9%	99.9%
Completion rate for eligible	87.2%	87.2%
Response rate for eligible	86.1%	86.5%

Survey Development and Administration

Instrument pre-testing and refinement

DMDC is dedicated to developing the best survey instruments possible. To gain information as to how to improve the instrument, DMDC preformed focus groups with the students, and preformed analysis on the 2005 SASA comments file.

During the 2005 SASA survey fielding at each academy, DMDC tested the 2005 SASA instrument with male students who were not sampled to take the survey. The purpose of the spring focus groups was to identify issues of clarity and completeness of response options. For the spring focus groups, the sessions were divided by class-year: fourth-years (freshmen-equivalents) and upperclassmen. In the fall, focus groups with female student also divided by fourth-years vs. upper classmen were held to pretest new items. Each session had eight to ten students. Refreshments were available. There was a facilitator and a note-taker at each session. The facilitator asked the students to read an item and asked questions about clarity.

The results of the focus groups, 2005 SASA comment analysis, and a review of private-sector surveys led DMDC to improve survey items and add new sections. The 2006 SAGR instrument:

- Expanded the education and training section,
- Added perception of safety from sexual harassment and sexual assault,
- Added a measurement of stalking,
- Added sections for details of sexual harassment experiences, and

Updated the measures of sexual assault to match the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) definition (this term refers to a broader category of experiences that we refer to as Unwanted Sexual Contact (USC)).

Paper-and-pencil Survey

Data were collected at each Academy in March and April 2006. A team of survey administrators and proctors from DMDC worked closely with staff from each Academy to administer the paper-and-pencil survey in group sessions. Separate sessions were held for female and male students. DMDC staff briefed the students on the purpose and importance of the survey at the beginning of each session. After checking in and upon entering the briefing room, each student was handed a survey in a self-sealing 9 x 12 brown Kraft envelope, an Academy-specific information sheet and a pen. The Academy-specific information sheet contained information on where students could obtain help if they became upset or distressed while taking the survey or afterwards. At the briefing, students were told the purpose for the survey and the importance of participation, but that completion of the survey itself was voluntary. Students could leave the session at the completion of the mandatory briefing if they did not wish to take the survey. Students returned surveys, in sealed envelopes, to survey staff as they exited the session. This resulted in one returned survey per student briefed. Survey booklets were collected by DMDC staff and shipped to the survey operations contractor for scanning and data compilation.

Survey Administration

Each Academy was given the list of sampled students. Each Academy developed procedures to notify the sampled students and assigned them to sessions for the briefing and the option for survey participation. The Academy communications can be sorted into three categories: 1) letters to all students and Academy staff informing them that the survey will field soon, 2) notifications from the Academy to sampled students that they were selected for the sample, with directions included on how to sign-up for a survey administration session, and 3) notification from the Academy to sampled students that they had missed their assigned session time, where appropriate. Examples of these communications are in B. The DMDC survey administration staff created a student check-in process from the Academy session assignments. The students checked in with DMDC staff and were instructed which room to enter for the briefing. Males and females were briefed in separate rooms. Students were greeted by DMDC staff upon entering the briefing rooms, and handed the survey packet. Upon leaving the briefing room, students turned in their surveys to DMDC staff and were thanked for their participation.

The DMDC survey administration staff supplied lists of “no-shows” to Academy staff. No-shows are students who were assigned to one of the sessions and failed to check-in. The Academy staff sent emails to the no-shows reminding them that the briefing was mandatory. The no-show students were instructed to meet with DMDC survey administration staff to arrange a time to complete the briefing.

Processing Returned Surveys

Paper-and-Pencil Surveys

The operations contractor processed all survey information according to DMDC approved administration plans and coding schemes. Surveys were image scanned.

All returned surveys – whether completed, partially completed, or blank – were logged in and opened by the operations contractor upon receipt of the surveys from the Academies. If the envelope contained the survey booklet and other materials (e.g., extra comments, photographs, non-relevant items), the operations contractor separated it from the survey. Bundles of this type of correspondence (white mail) were sent to DMDC by regular surface mail or FedEx ground after all surveys were received. If the white mail appeared to be urgent, the operations contractor contacted DMDC to determine how it should be handled.

Survey booklets were batched for image scanning and assigned a batch number. The booklets were separated by pages, stacked in page/booklet order on the shelves of a cart, and forwarded for scanning. As the surveys were scanned, the batch number and a serial number (unique to each survey) were printed on each page of the survey.

The surveys were machine-edited for light marks, multiple marks, and alignment. Damaged forms were repaired, if possible, and scanned with non-damaged forms. If it was not possible to scan the documents, they were batched separately and key-entered.

DMDC Coding Scheme

To convert the raw data into the item scores that appear in the basic data file, DMDC provided the operations contractor with the coding notes (contained in D) and an annotated copy of the survey form (C). Every attempt was made to capture all information from completed surveys and to preserve the data so that secondary analysts can later create variables that were not anticipated by DMDC researchers. To accomplish these goals, DMDC maintains several coding conventions for all of its surveys. See D for in-depth coverage of these coding conventions.

DMDC uses “forward” coding methodology when coding inconsistent answers in items with skip patterns. Data on the starting question (parent) were accepted as marked. Data for subsequent items within the skip pattern (children) were edited to be consistent with the parent question. An unedited version of each item was preserved in a confidential dataset. By preserving the unedited data, recoding can be done if ever required.

Coding or Keying Open-Ended Items

The operations contractor keyed all verbatim other-specify and 100% of open-ended comments. Identifiers (proper names, addresses, e-mail addresses, phone numbers, locations, or social security numbers) were replaced with generic terms. Obscenities were keyed verbatim. If an open-ended comment began on the survey form and continued on an attachment, the attachment was removed and sent to DMDC. The operations contractor delivered the written open-ended responses in a flat file. The comments were linked by batch and serial number to the scanned file. A flag indicating the presence of a comment appeared in the scanned data record and was used to help ensure that all comments were keyed. The comments were provided as separate records by item number and combined into one comment file.

Fifty-record Check

After receiving and scanning the first 50 returned records, the operations contractor performed a “50-record check.” The purpose of this check is to test the coding scheme. DMDC checked the resulting data to determine if there were any unanticipated problems in the coding procedures (e.g., respondents were consistently answering in an unexpected manner). Minor corrections to these procedures were necessary as a result of this check and were reviewed by DMDC prior to production of the initial SAS[®] dataset. At the completion of the 50-record check, the operations contractor compiled the full set of returned surveys. The data were then cleaned and edited.

Survey Analysis Files

This section (a) provides an overview of requirements for analysis of the data, (b) documents the structure of survey analysis files created for the Service Academy 2006 Gender Relations Survey, (c) describes the assembly of the analysis files, and (d) provides an overview of the variables in the survey analysis files.

Estimation

Data were collected from a single-stage, non-proportional, stratified random sample for males and a census of the females. Responses were weighted up to population totals, adjusting for differential sampling and response rates in demographically homogenous groups. In general, the procedures used to compute sample estimates of population parameters (including population totals, means, proportions), tests of hypotheses, regression relations, and their associated variances are derived from the probability structure that gives rise to the observations. As with other surveys involving complex probability structures, most of the parameter estimates of interest in this survey take the form of non-linear statistics. Examples include domain means and proportions where the denominator values are unknown and must be estimated from the sample data. The estimator takes the form of a ratio of random variables (i.e., the ratio of the estimated numerator and denominator totals or counts). In general, ratio estimates are not unbiased and their variances cannot be expressed in closed form. The variances are approximated. The bias in a ratio estimate depends on the variance associated with the denominator total or count and can usually be ignored in samples having a large number of observations. As a working rule, the bias may be assumed negligible if the number of observations on which the estimate is based exceeds 30 or is otherwise large enough so that the coefficient of variation $[SE(x)/x]$ of the denominator is less than .10 (cf., Cochran, 1977, pp. 153-165).

Approximations for the variances commonly take the form of Taylor series linearizations or replicate methods such as those based on resampling methods. Variables have been included in the analyses files so that variance estimates can be based on Taylor series linearizations computed by SUDAAN⁵ for a stratified, without-replacement design.

Many of the standard statistical software packages, such as SPSS⁶ and older versions of SAS,⁷ do not properly compute variance estimates from weighted data that were collected with a design other than simple random sampling. Variables have been included in the analysis file so that Taylor series estimates can be made with SAS PROC SURVEYMEANS and PROC SURVEYREG.

Analyzing the dataset with the proper use of the appropriate eligibility indicator (ELIGFLGW) and analysis weight (FINALWGT) in standard statistical programs will result in accurate point estimates but will not result in accurate variance estimates. Wolter (1985) provides a detailed discussion on methods used for variance estimation from sample surveys, including replication, Taylor series approximation, and analytic methods.

Data Structure

Care was taken in the preparation of the survey analysis files to provide access to data from the survey with sufficient information for accurate estimations while meeting requirements for participant and non-participant anonymity. As described below, some detailed variables have been deleted from the Basic-Survey file, either because (a) they are typically needed only to analyze survey methods and not needed to analyze the survey data or, (b) they provide too great a chance of identifying an individual.

In addition to a Basic-Survey file, a confidential file (containing a more complete set of variables than the Basic-Survey file) has been prepared for internal DMDC use. Files were prepared as SAS and SPSS system files. An ASCII (Operating System or OS) flat file was prepared from the basic SAS system file. File names are indicated in Table 7.

⁷ SAS added survey procedures in Version 7, expanding them in releases 8.0 and higher.

Analysis File Names

Type of File	File Name
Basic survey File – SAS	SAGR06B.SAS7BDAT
Basic survey File – SPSS	SAGR06B.SAV
Basic survey File – OS	SAGR06B.DAT

The structure of the confidential file is shown in Figure 1. The confidential file contains the basic-survey file plus additional Privacy Act confidential variables.

All variables in the confidential file are documented in this report. E and F list all variables with a notation to indicate which variables are confidential, and show where each variable is documented. Variables that appear in collapsed form in the Basic-Survey part of the file and in a fuller version only in the confidential file are discussed later.

Analyses

Both the confidential file and basic-survey file contain 6,049 records, one for each located sampled individual. As depicted in Figure 1, these 6,049 records can be divided into two subgroups.

Assignment of a record to the other two subgroups was based on whether an individual returned a “completed” survey and whether the person was eligible to be included in the population of interest. Final eligibility was limited to students attending the Academy in April 2006, excluding foreign nationals and visiting students.

Records required for analyses are those in the Known Ineligibles and Eligible Respondents subgroups. Both the Eligible Respondents (ELIGFLGW = 1) and Known Ineligibles (ELIGFLGW = 2) are included because both types of records were used to develop weights that sum to the population total, and both types of records are needed to compute accurate variance estimates by the Taylor series linearization method implemented by SUDAAN and SAS PROC SURVEYMEANS.

To analyze the Web responses, the analytic weight, FINALWGT, was used with the file subset ELIGFLGW.

Variables in the Survey Analysis Files

Basic-Survey File

The variables in the Basic-Survey file fall into four categories: (1) derived from survey responses, (2) created by DMDC for analysis, (3) created by the operations contractor to document survey operations, and (4) created to analyze the weighted dataset. Variables are grouped in these categories in F.

1) Information Gathered on the Survey. Variables came directly from the survey or were constructed using only information from the survey. There is at least one variable for every item in the survey except for a few items that had to be removed to preserve confidentiality. The annotated questionnaire (C) contains the item names, values used to code the pre-specified alternatives, and references to applicable coding notes in D.

Although the first part of D extensively documents the conventions that DMDC uses to name survey variables, a brief overview of the naming convention is also provided. In general, the survey-derived variables can be classified as variables that begin with either “SC,” “SR,” or “X.”

The naming of “SC” variables is reviewed using the example variable, “SC004A.” For the Service Academy 2006 Gender Relations Survey, variable names begin with “SC” to denote the population (Service Academy) and the version of survey (third survey) in this series. The ending three or more numbers or letters correspond to the questionnaire item. In this example, the third through fifth digits indicate the main question number (004) and the sixth digit (if any) indicate the sub-question item, such as (in this example) item A from a list of items in Question 4.

The “SR” variables are a set of primarily demographic items that are identically named across all DMDC surveys. The “SR” serves as a mnemonic for self-report with the remainder of the name indicating the data being collected. For example, “SRACAD” is the variable name for the item that asks sample students what Academy they attend. Although all survey data are self-reported, the “SR” is used to distinguish survey-reported information from DMDC-provided information (e.g., “SRACAD” from the survey versus “CACAD” from DMDC survey administration records). “XACAD” used the values of “CACAD” when “SRACAD” is missing. “X” variables typically involve imputation for missing data and, like “SR” variables, are intended to be consistent across DMDC surveys. When possible, “X” is reserved to create special crossing (marginal) variables for key analyses.

2) Variables Constructed for Analysis. Certain demographic variables, including some information collected on the survey, had to be censored to preserve the confidentiality promised to survey respondents and nonrespondents. For example, SC023AR is a recoding of SC023A. An “R” as the last letter of a variable listed in E and F is an indication that the variables may have been recoded to create special analysis variables, and that a more complete variable is available only on the confidential analysis file.

Certain key demographic variables were constructed for DMDC analyses. These analytic variables, starting with “X,” are based primarily on self-reported information from the survey. Typically, where the self-reported information was missing on important demographics (e.g., gender and Academy) data were imputed from survey administrative records.

I also documents many of the decisions made in the analyses reported by DMDC (2006a). For a large number of survey items, analysts must make decisions on the treatment of special codes used to indicate inconsistencies in the survey data, especially on respondent failures to follow skip pattern directions.

3) Information on Operations. The DMDC-provided identification number, SASA06ID, is unique and is used to identify responses as they are processed. Other variables are created by the operations contractor but are too detailed to be in the Basic-Survey file.

4) Information on Weighting. Derivation of weights is discussed in detail in DMDC (2006b) B. See J for examples of analyses using these variables:⁸

ELIGFLGW	Eligibility Flag
FINALWGT	Final Weight
V_STRAT	Strata
TOTAL	Stratum Totals

Confidential File

In addition to variables on the basic-survey file, the full-survey file also has five additional categories of variables: (1) the uncensored version of survey items that appear in a collapsed form in the basic-survey section, (2) variables created by DMDC for analysis, (3) detailed variables created by the operations contractor to document operations, (4) demographic data collected at the time of fielding, and (5) detailed variables used in weighting. Variables are grouped in these categories in E and F.

5) Information Gathered on Survey - Confidential Variables. This section of the confidential file contains the original full version of survey variables that had to be recoded for the basic-survey file to preserve confidentiality. To the extent possible, recoded versions of these variables are in the Basic-Survey file section in variables constructed for analysis.

6) Variables Constructed for Analysis - Confidential Variables. This section of the confidential file contains the original full version of analytic variables constructed by DMDC. To the extent possible, recoded versions of these variables are in the Basic-Survey file section for variables constructed for analysis.

7) Information on Operations - Confidential Variables. This section of the confidential file contains operational variables created by the operations contractor. These variables are useful for methodological studies and/or were used in determining eligibility and response status.

The identifying variables describe how the record was processed once a survey was returned. The variables BATCH, SERIAL, and LITHO uniquely identify each returned survey. BATCH, SERIAL and LITHO are the codes printed on the survey during scanning to identify the scan batch number, scan order of each survey and uniquely identify each survey. These numbers can be used to retrieve the paper copy of a survey for a short time after it has been scanned (e.g., should researchers want to check electronically-stored information against the respondent's answer on the paper survey). DENTDATE is the date the survey was scanned and INRECNO is the unique identification number assigned to each record. The classification variables describe how individual sample member's records were grouped and indexed. FLAG_FIN indicates the final disposition status of a sample member (i.e., survey returned, blank survey returned, not locatable, or no return).

The following variables are null: INCWEB, REUSE, SCSINEL, SRDATE, and WEBSTAT. These are standard operations variables that describe the Web survey process. Since this was a paper-only survey, these variables were not applicable. Our automated processes did not allow us to drop the variables from the dataset.

8) Information on Sampling and Record Data - Confidential Variables. This section of the confidential file contains administrative file variables.

9) Information on Weighting - Confidential Variables. This section of the confidential file contains variables used in analysis of non-response and in the construction of the weights.

Using G

Regardless of whether analysts use all or only portions of the database, all analysts should replicate the results found in the tables in G. It is only by replicating these results that analysts can be sure that they are reading the data correctly. An annotated example of an G table is listed in Figure 2.

¹³G-1

1. Codebook title and item text. The codebook title is the same for every table in G of this codebook. It lists both the general study and the specific survey form being summarized. If applicable, the indented text under the title presents the verbatim question or instructions that accompany a specific item in the survey.

2. Variable name. The variable name for a survey item is up to eight characters in length and corresponds to the variable name that is used in the SAS[®]-based, Basic-Survey data file. The conventions for naming survey-derived variables are documented in D. F contains a full listing of the Basic-Survey file variables, as well as short descriptions of what the variables document.
3. Survey item text. For survey items, this text is the verbatim item wording. For other variables, this text provides a verbal description of the variable.
4. Location of the item on the OS data file. This block provides the location of the variable on the OS (ASCII) data file. The OS data block documents (a) the starting and ending column numbers where the data are stored and (b) the number of columns that the data occupy.
5. SAS[®] data file information. This block indicates format name, variable type, length and informat of the data in the SAS[®] data file. The last block indicates the informat appropriate for reading the data from the OS data file.
6. Counts of item value responses. This column indicates the number of sample students who fall into the category corresponding to each value for the variable. The count provided for each variable value should correspond exactly to those that analysts would obtain when running unweighted frequencies on all 6,049 records in the accompanying database. Before running complex statistical analyses, analysts are encouraged to re-create these frequency tables. Re-creating the counts minimally ensures that the data are being read correctly by the analysts' computers and programs.
7. Respondent percentages for each value. This column indicates the percentage of sample students who marked each variable value. The percentages are calculated by dividing the row value in the "FREQ" column by the total listed at the bottom of the "FREQ" column. The percentages provided for each variable value should correspond exactly to those that analysts would obtain when running unweighted frequencies on all 6,049 records in the accompanying database.
8. Response OS values. This column presents the OS (ASCII) code for the actual or re-coded response values for each survey item. Further details on the values in this column are found in either the annotated survey form or in D. For example, all negative values are found in D.
9. Response SAS[®] values. This column presents the SAS[®] code for the actual or re-coded response values for each survey item. Further details on the values in this column are found in the annotated survey form in C. All negative values are found in D.

10. Explanation of the item value codes. This column presents brief verbal explanations of the OS and SAS[®] coding for each survey item. If the coded information corresponds to survey response alternatives, the text in the table is the verbatim response from the survey instrument. More detailed explanations are found in the annotated survey form in C.
11. Total of response frequencies and percents. The number appearing at the bottom of the “FREQ” column is the total number of sample students in the Basic-Survey file. This number is the same for every table in this codebook. That is, every sample member in the database is accounted for on every variable even if the variable indicates only that the information was missing for that sample member. The number appearing at the bottom of the “PERCENT” column is typically 100.0. Rounding error, however, occasionally causes the total percentage to be slightly above or below 100.0.
12. Messages to analysts. These messages alert analysts to situations specific to a variable including (a) rounding errors resulting in a total percentage other than 100 percent; (b) the variable having values that are “too numerous to list;” (c) extraction of the variable from another specified database; (d) creation of the variable from two or more variables specified in the message; and (e) further clarification of the survey item corresponding to the variable.
13. Codebook page number. This is the G page number corresponding to a specific variable. E and F identify the page number in G where the variable can be found.

PRIVACY INFORMATION

This notice informs you of the purpose of this survey and how the findings of this survey will be used.

AUTHORITY: Section 527 of the National Defense Authorization Act of 2004.

PRINCIPAL PURPOSE: The purpose of this survey is to determine the extent to which sexual assault/harassment is occurring among cadets/midshipmen at the Service Academies and to evaluate the effectiveness of each Service Academy's sexual assault/harassment policies, training, and procedures. The survey is intended to serve as a benchmark by which senior Department of Defense (DoD) officials can track sexual assault/harassment trends over time. Reports will be provided to the Office of the Secretary of Defense, each Military Department, and the Service Academies. Findings will be used in reports and testimony provided to Congress. Some summary statistical findings may be published by Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) in professional journals, or presented at conferences, symposia, and scientific meetings.

ROUTINE USES: None.

DISCLOSURE: Providing information on this survey is voluntary and anonymous. There will be no effort to trace any information back to an individual. There is no penalty if you choose not to respond. However, maximum participation is encouraged so that data will be complete and representative.

STATEMENT OF RISK: The data collection procedures are not expected to involve any risk or discomfort to you. The only risk to you is accidental or unintentional disclosure of any identifying data you provide. However, DMDC has a number of policies and procedures to ensure that survey data are kept anonymous and protected. If you have any questions about this survey, please contact SASurvey@osd.pentagon.mil.

c. Made unwelcome attempts to draw you into a discussion of sexual matters (e.g., attempted to discuss or comment on your sex life)?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
d. Treated you "differently" because of your gender (e.g., mistreated, slighted, or ignored you)?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
e. Made offensive remarks about your appearance, body, or sexual activities?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
f. Made gestures or used body language of a sexual nature that embarrassed or offended you?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
g. Made offensive sexist remarks (e.g., suggesting that people of your gender are not suited for the kind of work you do)?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
h. Made unwanted attempts to establish a romantic sexual relationship with you despite your efforts to discourage it?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
i. Put you down or was condescending to you because of your gender?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
j. Continued to ask you for dates, drinks, dinner, etc., even though you said "No"?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
k. Made you feel like you were being bribed with some sort of reward or special treatment to engage in sexual behavior?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
l. Made you feel threatened with some sort of retaliation for not being sexually cooperative?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
m. Touched you in a way that made you feel uncomfortable?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
n. Intentionally cornered you or leaned over you in a sexual way?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐
o. Treated you badly for refusing to have sex?	☐	☐	☐	☐	☐

Service Academy 2006 Gender Relations Survey

March/April 2006

WHY ARE WE DOING THIS SURVEY?

- Congressional requirement (National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2004, Section 527)
- Results used to evaluate the Department's policies and practices regarding sexual harassment and assault, and related issues at the three Service Academies
- Results provided to Congress, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of the Air Force, and your Superintendent

WHAT IS THIS SURVEY ABOUT?

- This is the only survey that asks about your personal experiences of sexual harassment and sexual assault during this academic year
- This academic year is June 2005 to present

WHY TAKE THIS SURVEY?

- Survey participants sometimes say, “I have not experienced any of these behaviors, so why should I take the survey”
 - We need to hear from those of you who have and have not had gender-related experiences in order to develop accurate survey results for your Academy
- This survey is your opportunity to provide straightforward, anonymous feedback to senior leaders who shape policies and programs that directly affect you
- Completion of this survey is voluntary
- All your responses are completely anonymous

HOW TO FILL OUT THE SURVEY

- Open your survey booklet and turn to page 2.
- We ask that you answer all the questions on the survey that apply to you, and do so honestly and completely.
- Please turn to the section titled “Completion Instructions”
 - As you can see, you should put an “X” in the boxes for your answers
 - If you want to change an answer, completely black out the wrong answer and put an “X” in the correct box as shown in the example.

COMPLETION INSTRUCTIONS

- Please take your time and select answers you believe are most appropriate.
 - Please PRINT where applicable. Do not make any marks outside of the response and write-in boxes.
 - If you need more room for comments, use the back page or ask a survey proctor for a blank piece of paper.
 - Place an “X” in the appropriate box or boxes.
- | | | |
|--|-------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| | ☒ | ☐ |
- To change an answer, completely black out the wrong answer and put an “X” in the correct box as shown below.
- | | |
|-------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| CORRECT ANSWER | INCORRECT ANSWER |
| ☒ | ☐ |

- In order to preserve your anonymity, please do not use any personal or unit names or other identifying information anywhere on this survey
 - If you do not have enough room for written comments, please use the comments section at the end of the survey or ask for additional blank paper

FINAL INSTRUCTIONS

- As you leave the survey room, place your survey in the envelope provided, seal it, and place it in the box
- The list of resources available is yours to keep

Thank you for filling out the survey

2006 Academy Survey DMDC Briefing Text

NOTE: Before beginning the briefing, be sure the cadets are spread out in every other seat; do not begin until everyone is seated correctly. Be sure everyone has an envelope/survey and a pen.

[SLIDE 1: REGISTRATION]

Has everyone registered at the desk outside this room? You need to register so we can document that you attended the session.

[SLIDE 2: DMDC COVER SLIDE]

Good morning, my name is _____, and this is _____. We are part of a team from the Defense Manpower Data Center, which is responsible for Department of Defense personnel surveys. We are here today to administer a survey that senior Defense officials will use to evaluate the policies and practices regarding sexual assault, sexual harassment, and other gender-related issues at the Service Academies.

This survey asks about your views and experiences regarding these behaviors. Some of you might consider the questions personal. If you are upset while answering this survey or afterward, your survey envelope includes a handout regarding where to go for assistance. Of course, we're also here to help in any way possible.

This is an anonymous and voluntary survey. At the end of this briefing, you can decide if you want to take the survey or not. You can leave at that point, you can sit quietly and just turn in your materials at the end of the survey session, or you can fill out the survey.

[SLIDE 3: WHY ARE WE DOING THIS SURVEY?]

Let's begin by talking about why we are doing the survey.

- Congress directed the Secretary of Defense to conduct surveys on gender issues at each of the Academies. While the press and others may claim to know what is going on at the Academies, members of Congress, Secretary Rumsfeld and your senior leaders want to hear directly from you and they will get the survey results, as well as your Superintendent.

[SLIDE 4: WHAT IS THIS SURVEY ABOUT?]

- This is the only survey that will ask you about your personal experiences of sexual harassment and sexual assault for this academic year and this means from June 2005 to the present.

SLIDE 5: WHY TAKE THIS SURVEY?]

- Survey participants sometimes say “I have not experienced any of these behaviors, so why do I need to take the survey?”
- We need to hear from those of you who have and have not had experiences in order to develop accurate survey results for your Academy.
- We ask that you answer all the questions on the survey that apply to you, and do so honestly and completely.

[SLIDE 6: HOW TO FILL OUT THE SURVEY]

- Please take the survey out of the envelope now so we can review how to fill it out. Let’s look at page 2 in the upper left-hand corner under the section “Completion Instructions.”

- As you can see, you should put an “X” in the appropriate boxes for your answers.
- If you want to change an answer, completely black out the wrong answer and put an “X” in the correct box as shown in the example.
- Please use the pens we have provided. If you a new one, just raise your hand.
- In order to preserve your anonymity, please do not use any personal or unit names or other identifying information anywhere on this survey.
- Some survey items allow you to write in comments. If you do not have enough room in the space provided, please use the comments section at the end of the survey. And, if you need more space to write, please raise your hand, and we will provide you with extra paper.

[SLIDE 7: FINAL INSTRUCTIONS]

- As you leave the survey room, please place your survey in the envelope provided, seal it, and place it in the box. If you do not wish to take the survey, please place it in the envelope and place it in the box.
- The list of resources is yours to keep.
- You may proceed.
- Thank you so much for filling out the survey.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Service Academy Gender Relations Survey Frequently Asked Questions

Q: Why are we being asked to take this survey?

A: Congress directed the Secretary of Defense to conduct surveys about gender-related issues at the three Service Academies (National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2004, Section 527). Congress, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of the Air Force, and your Superintendent use these results to gauge progress on these issues.

Q: How was I selected to take the survey?

A: The survey must include enough representation from each gender and class year for analysis of the survey questions. All female cadets and at least one-third of male cadets have been selected to take the survey. A census of female students is needed because a sample of female students would not produce reliable results, a function of the small number of women attending the Academy. Male students were selected at random to meet sample population requirements.

Q: I have not experienced any gender relations problems. Why should I take the survey?

A: The survey results need to represent the views of all students, not just those who experienced gender relations problems. Also, the survey asks questions that apply to all students (e.g., about progress and training).

Q: I took this survey last year. Why should I take it again?

A: Each survey asks about a different time period. This survey only asks about experiences related to the current academic year, so the data will be new.

Q: What does “anonymous survey” mean?

A: It means that no one will ever be able to identify if responses to the survey came from a particular person.

Q: What steps need to be taken to ensure that my responses are anonymous?

A: To anonymity, we ask you to (1) not include any personally identifying information (e.g., names and units) anywhere on the survey and (2) place your completed survey in a sealed envelope after you have completed it.

Q: I can't come to my scheduled time. What should I do?

A: Contact Dr. Kathy O'Donnell or Maj Liz Orie, USAFA/XP or the survey administration team to reschedule.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q: Are last year's results available?

A: (Response varied across Academy)

Q: Who is responsible for the administration and analysis of the survey?

A: Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) is the DoD-wide central resource for personnel information. DMDC scientists have conducted surveys of DoD personnel for about 30 years and they have designed, conducted, and analyzed surveys that measure gender relations for almost 20 years. DMDC complies with all Federal and professional standards for conducting human subjects' research. These standards ensure your anonymity.

Q: Why is this a paper-and-pencil instead of an online survey?

A: Research has shown that many survey respondents are more comfortable providing details of sensitive personal information on paper-and-pencil surveys. This approach eliminates the possibility of electronic traceability of online survey responses to an individual. A dedicated time and place for the survey also enables students to take the survey without distraction.

Q: Doesn't this survey duplicate Academy surveys we already take?

A: No. On this survey, respondents are asked if they have experienced sexual assault and sexual harassment. This is the only survey that asks cadets about their personal experiences regarding these sensitive topics.

Communications

On behalf of the Superintendent and the Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC), I want to express our appreciation to you for providing your time and effort as a participant in the focus groups associated with updating the Service Academy Sexual Assault Survey. The feedback you and other cadets provided is essential in further developing a sound measure in this sensitive area. DMDC will incorporate your feedback in modifying the survey that will be administered in April, 2006.

Again, thank you assistance with this process and for all you do in support of the United States Military Academy, West Point.

Cadet Smith,

You have been selected to participate in the Service Academy 2006 Gender Relations Survey. At each Academy, a sample (including a census of all women) has been constructed to result in reliable results for these important issues. You are one of approximately 1,745 USMA cadets selected for this study during the week of 24-27 April. Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) are attached.

This Congressionally mandated survey studies gender relations at each Academy. This is now the only measure of sexual harassment and assault that will be collected each year. This survey will ask you about gender relation issues that you have experienced during the current academic year (e.g., since July 2005). The survey's report is used by Army, DoD senior leadership, and Congress to assess and shape Academy policy. The briefing and survey should take about 30 minutes.

You can now schedule which session you would like to attend. Follow the instructions below. Failure to schedule a session or to attend your scheduled session will require intervention by your chain of command.

You have been selected to participate in the 2006 Service Academy Gender Relations Survey. You are one of approximately 1900 midshipmen selected to participate in this study during the week of 27-31 March 06. Attendance is required to muster for a briefing on the survey. If you choose to take the survey, your responses are completely anonymous.

Your participation in this survey is very important regardless of your experiences. In order to obtain accurate data, we need to hear from those who have and have not experienced gender relations issues.

This Congressionally mandated survey studies gender relations at each academy. This survey will ask you about gender relation issues that you have experienced during the current academic year (e.g., since July 2005). The survey results will be used by me and the academy staff, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of the Navy, and Congress to assess and shape policy on gender relations.

You will soon be instructed how to schedule yourself for a survey session. Please consider your schedule carefully when choosing a session to attend. There are many options available to you. Using your feedback, the survey team from the Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) and our staff has endeavored to make this process more flexible and accommodating.

This is an anonymous survey and your privacy will be protected. There is no mechanism to link survey responses to any individual. Please ensure that any comments you write on the survey do not contain personally identifying information.

If you have any questions, please contact the Institutional Research Department at IRPOC@usna.edu.

Subject: DODIG Survey

All,

Approximately 1900 midshipmen have been selected to participate in the Service Academy 2006 Gender Relations Survey. Attendance for a briefing on the survey is required for any midshipman selected.

The Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) will conduct a survey on gender relations for the offices of the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of the Navy during the week of 27-31 March 06. This survey is a Congressional requirement and will be conducted at all three service academies. USNA results will go to the Department of the Navy, Department of Defense and Congress.

In order to comply with Department of Defense (DoD) Human Subjects Research guidelines, all communications, announcements, and emails pertaining to this survey must be scripted and approved by Institutional Research and DMDC. Templates will be provided for each type of communication regarding this survey. It is necessary that these should be the only communications used.

The survey will be administered during the week of 27-31 March 06. Males and Females will take the survey in separate rooms in Rickover Hall. Males will be surveyed in RI 102, Females in RI 103.

Selected Midshipmen will receive a notice to sign up for a survey administration session. During the week of 20 March, they can choose a time that best fits their schedules within the times available. Midshipmen who have scheduling conflicts should contact Institutional Research (IRPOC@USNA.EDU) to reschedule. If rescheduling must occur during the week of the administration itself, students will contact Institutional Research or come to the survey administration site. All rescheduling must occur before scheduled appointments.

Any midshipman failing to attend their scheduled session will be notified by Institutional Research to reschedule. Company Officers intervention will be required only if rescheduling does not occur in a reasonable time.

Glenn Gottschalk

You have been selected to participate in the 2006 Service Academy Gender Relations Survey. At each academy, a sample (including a census of all women) has been constructed to result in reliable results for these important issues. You are one of approximately 1900 midshipmen selected for this study during the week of 27-31 March. Frequently Asked Questions are attached.

This congressionally mandated survey studies gender relations at each academy. This survey will ask you about gender relation issues that you have experienced during the current academic year (eg., since July 2005). The survey's report is used by the Navy, DoD senior leadership, and Congress to assess and shape academy policy. The briefing and survey should take about 30 minutes.

You will be required to schedule during the period of 20-22 March a session you would like to attend the week of 27-30 March. If you would like to register now, you may. Follow the instructions below. If you have a schedule conflict during the administration week, you can reschedule with the survey administration staff.

To schedule your session go to: <http://www.usna.edu/IR/utilities/dod-ig/login-admin.php> and login with your NADN username and password. After you submit your choice of session, a confirmation page will be displayed. This page will contain your session information. This is a reminder that you have been selected to participate in the Service Academy 2006 Gender Relations Survey. This is your opportunity to provide feedback directly to Congress, senior DoD, Air Force, and Academy leadership on these vital issues. Please take this survey seriously and provide your honest, direct feedback. Even if you have not experienced sexual harassment or assault, we need to hear your views so we have a balanced perspective on cadet life at the United States Air Force Academy. Your responses will be anonymous. This survey, which is now the only measure of this subject at your Academy, will ask you about gender relations issues that you have experienced during the current academic year (e.g., since June 2005). You are scheduled to report 12-APR-2006 15:10 to the check-in table near Room 2P318. If you need to reschedule, please contact this office as soon as possible or stop at the survey administration desk during the week of the survey (10-14 April) and an individual from the Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) staff will assist you.

UNWANTED SEXUAL CONTACT

32. Since June 2005, have you experienced any of the following sexual contacts that were against your will or occurred when you did not or could not consent where someone...

- Sexually touched you (e.g., intentional touching of genitalia, breasts, or buttocks) or made you sexually touch them?
- Attempted to make you have sexual intercourse, but was not successful?
- Made you have sexual intercourse?
- Attempted to make you perform or receive oral sex, anal sex, or penetration by a finger or object, but was not successful?
- Made you perform or receive oral sex, anal sex, or penetration by a finger or object?

- 3 ☐ Yes, once
- 2 ☐ Yes, multiple times
- 1 ☐ No

Think about the situation(s) you experienced since June 2005 that involved the behaviors in the previous question. Tell us about the one event that had the greatest effect on you.

Appendix D

Coding Scheme

APPENDIX D: Coding Scheme for the Service Academies 2006 Gender Relations Survey

The guiding premise of coding this and other DMDC surveys is that the analysts creating the dataset will not be the only ones analyzing the data. DMDC rarely collects data simply for immediate use or to answer one question. Different people, both at DMDC and other organizations (government, academic, and private-sector), analyze DMDC datasets. Every care is taken in organizing and documenting DMDC surveys so secondary analysts can be reasonably certain they understand both how the data are coded and the limitations of the data. This appendix describes (a) variable naming conventions, (b) how data are captured from the survey instrument, and (c) the edit process to create survey response variables for the analysis file.

Variable Naming

In responding to a customer's request for information, DMDC often uses multiple data sources. Information on a particular topic could be obtained from different surveys or from a survey that has been repeated over a number of years. For example, a customer might be interested in organizational commitment items included in a survey of Active-Duty members in 1999 and in an exit survey in 2000. Conventions discussed below are being used as a means for facilitating such analyses.

Survey-derived Variables

Identical demographic items are used across many DMDC surveys. Each time these items are used, common variable names and values are used. The variable names for this group of demographic items start with "SR" (mnemonic for self reported). The following items in this survey fall into this category: SRSEX (for gender), SRACAD (for Service Academy), and SRCLASS (for Class year). COMMENT (for a flag indicating if a comment has been entered) and SRDATE (for the date the survey was completed) are other standard variables across DMDC surveys.

The basic naming conventions are implemented as follows for Service Academies 2006 Gender Relations Survey:

- Basic variable names start with "SC" for items appearing in SAGR2006. The "S" stands for Service and the "C" means that this is the third time this survey has been fielded.
- The third, fourth, and fifth characters after the SC are item numbers in the survey from 001 through 052.
- Letters following the numbers for multi-part items usually represent the sub-item. The exceptions skip pattern flags (ending in "SK") and specify flags (ending in a "SP"), are explained later in the section titled, Standard Flag Variables.

Items that are collected for each implementation of a survey (core items) are given standardized names to ease data analysis. Constructed items that are created the same way each year also use standardized names: SEXBEH is the sexist behavior incident rate (see Appendix I to see variable construction).

Non-survey-derived Variables

Each Academy provided record data that were used to draw the sample of eligible men and a census of eligible women. These data included name, Academy, class and gender. These data are not available for analysis. For the protection of respondent, the SAGR2006 was an anonymous survey. There is no way to link record variables to the individual respondents. In order to link record data to respondent data two steps need to happen: 1) Surveys have to be encoded with unique identifiers and 2) Surveys have to be assigning to each sample member and recoded in a database. Neither was implemented for this project for the protection of anonymity. SAGR2006 does not have record data.

Through administration procedures, we created variables that provided us the imputation function of record variables. The surveys were batched by gender, Academy, session time and session room and then shipped to be processes and scanned by DRC. The surveys were fielded on different days at the three Academies. Hence we were able to create administration Academy and gender variables (CACAD and CSEX) from the session record sheet for each student who was briefed.

Beginning a variable name with “X” indicates it is a special crossing (marginal) variable for key analyses. “X variables” typically involve using record data to impute values for missing data in survey items. For this project if the self reported information for gender or Academy (SRSEX, SRACAD) was missing or incorrect then we used the administration values (CSEX, CACAD) to impute gender and Academy for the creation of reports (XSEX, XACAD). (See Appendix I for variable construction for all X variables.)

Value Coding and Formats

Datasets were prepared as SAS¹ system files. An OS or flat file version of the basic-survey release file was then prepared from the SAS system file. This section describes how values were treated in creating the SAS system files and notes any differences in the flat file.

In the SAS system files, variables were declared as numeric unless they contained true alphabetic characters. Although numeric variables can take more storage space, many statistical and logical operations can be done only with variables that are declared as numeric. Values for alphabetic variables were input with $CHARww. formats to preserve leading, embedded, and trailing blanks.

Raw-Data Encoding Process

Paper surveys are scanned using Intelligent Character Recognition (ICR) technology. Survey booklets were batched for image scanning and assigned a batch number. The booklets were cut to separate all the pages to prepare for scanning. As the surveys were scanned, the batch number and a serial number (unique to each survey) were printed on each page. The surveys were machine edited for light marks, multiple marks, and alignment. Damaged forms were repaired and scanned with non-damaged forms, if possible. If it was not possible to scan the documents, they were batched separately and key entered. Prior to providing each dataset to DMDC, the operations contractor copied the indexed file to their internal network. The data are then converted to a sequential format, and the validate program reads and loads the data to the dataset. This process cleans the data to the standards set in the coding scheme.

The “other specify” and open-ended comments are collected in a comment file and linked to the data by an identifier given to each survey as it is scanned. All text entries are cleaned and edited to remove identifying information and expletives.

Data cleaning can be thought of as occurring in four coding steps. In practice, these steps may not be strictly linear, nor neatly match the processing steps discussed above. However, they are a convenient framework to understand the meaning of the codes.

1. Each response is coded with one of two types of standard codes: valid response option value (see Coding Annotation of the survey form in Appendix C) or no response (-9).
2. Specify flag variables are created, and codes are assigned to indicate if respondents typed in responses correctly where text boxes were used.
3. Skip flag variables are created, and codes are assigned to indicate if respondents completed the skip pattern correctly. Special codes for valid skips are assigned to variables within skip patterns using a “forward coding” process.
4. Text code variables are created, and codes are assigned based on the content coding of the text entries.

In the coding sequence, coding in the third and later steps builds on prior steps and usually involves values in multiple items to resolve edits.

The next sections discuss the assignment of missing value codes, the special treatment of data variables, and the editing of skip patterns during steps 3 and 4.

Missing Data Codes

The instructions used to assign missing data codes and other special codes are shown in three tables. In these tables, the value labels associated with each assigned code are shown in italicized text. These are the SAS format labels used in the SAS dataset.

- Table D-1 contains basic SAS and flat file missing data codes.
- Table D-2 contains SAS and flat file missing data codes for dates.

- Table D-3 provides detailed coding notes on items involving skip patterns, text boxes or other non-obvious coding.

The codes presented in Table D-1 are general missing data codes that have been adopted in recent years for use on DMDC surveys. Not all codes list here were used in the SAGR2006 project. (Standards for date variables are in Table D-2.) Both tables have separate columns for values used for SAS system files and flat files. The biggest difference between the flat files and SAS system files is in the treatment of missing values. The flat file codes differ from the SAS codes because SAS implements special missing codes and formats that may not be compatible with other statistical analysis software such as SPSS².

Note. This conversion has already been done in DMDC SAS® files.

SAS can represent up to 27 missing data values for numeric variables as either a period or a period-letter combination. While SAS can read alpha characters representing missing data in a raw data field declared to be numeric, other programs such as SPSS do not accept these characters in numeric fields. Missing numeric data are represented in the flat files by negative numbers that can be declared as missing values. For example, a multiple response error in flat files is coded as a “-8”, which can be declared as a missing value when the data are input in SPSS—in the SAS file, the value “.A” is used to represent a multiple response error.

Data requirements of SUDAAN³ were also considered in coding. Primarily this means avoiding in coding the use of a zero, which has a special use for certain procedures in SUDAAN, for a variable that will be used as an independent variable.

Many types of missing data are common to surveys and are self-explanatory. In general, missing data are coded as “-9” (SAS: .) when respondents skip the item invalidly. Incomplete or inappropriate responses in text boxes that could not be resolved to numeric are coded as “-4” (SAS: .I). Out-of-range responses in grids (e.g., number of days or weeks in a year larger than 365 or 52, respectively) are coded as “-7” (SAS: .O).

For a single item that contains a response alternative of “Not applicable,” or multiple items that can be affected by a skip pattern, or when item(s) have multiple ways to be not applicable, a missing data code of “-6” (SAS: .N) is typically used.

Multiple survey forms or modes (e.g., paper and web) are sometimes used in a single data collection effort, and the data from all the related forms may be combined into a single dataset for analysis. Questions may appear in one form or mode but not in another. In a combined dataset, a code of “-5” (SAS: .F) indicates missing data for variables not on the form completed by a respondent.

For DMDC surveys the general practice is to have records included in the files for sampled members regardless of whether or not they returned a survey. If a member did not return a survey or returned a blank survey, every survey variable is assigned a value of “-1” (SAS: .B). SAGR2006 does not use the value .B. The use of .B requires the record data for each sample member. This project does not have record data.

Standard Flag Variables

This survey employs two standard flag variables: specify flags and skip flags. Specify and skip flags are created during the second and third edit steps.

Skip pattern flags indicate whether one or more questions were or were not to be asked of respondents. For example, if respondents to this survey indicate on Question 32 (SC032) that they did not experience unwanted sexual contact (USC) since June 2005, then respondents were not to answer Question 33. SC033SK is a flag variable indicating if Question 33 (SC033A) was answered consistently with the skip direction. Skip flags are useful for evaluating the effectiveness of the skip pattern and for screening out ambiguous response patterns during analysis.

Specify flags are used to verify whether additional information was or was not to be gathered on a particular question. For example, SC028SPSK is a flag variable indicating when respondents had another authority, individual or organization that they would be willing to report an experience of USC. The specify flag indicates that respondents were eligible to fill in the specify box, on Question 28, item e. Specify flags are useful for evaluating the completeness of the question option categories.

Special Codes for Skip Patterns

Coding steps 3 and 4 involve editing data to resolve discrepancies in skip patterns. Skip flags are created in step 3. Table D-1 introduced the general outline of the skip flags, but the specific flags for each skip pattern are specified in Table D-3.⁴ After the creation of all the skip flags in step 3, variables within the skip patterns are forward coded in step 4 to make them consistent with the variables that start the skip patterns. To preserve all data, the variables within skip patterns are first copied to a set of confidential variables. The naming convention for these “raw” variables is to end the name with “U” for Unedited. Table D-3 specifies how to assign the special values, to variables within the skip patterns. While Table D-3 is organized to show all the edits for a skip pattern, all step 3 edits are made prior to making any step 4 edits. The remainder of this section describes the logic behind coding of skip patterns.

While an analyst can ignore discrepancies between a respondent’s answer on an item containing a conditional direction to skip items and answers to those items, it is generally better to resolve the discrepancies. Two ways of resolving the discrepancies can be termed backward and forward coding. Backward coding involves correcting the discrepancy by editing back from the skip pattern items to make the initial question conform. Forward coding involves correcting the discrepancy by editing forward from the initial question to make the skip pattern items conform. Data for this survey are forward coded with data on the starting question accepted as marked and data for the items within the skip pattern edited to be consistent with the starting question.

If a starting item is marked in such a way that the respondent should skip, items within the skip pattern have the “Not applicable” value (.N) assigned regardless of what the respondent marked on the items within the skip pattern. These values differentiate items with data missing because the item should have been skipped from items where data are missing because the respondent should have answered them but did not.

The “Does not apply - Did not experience” value (.D) is used to show that the respondent did not receive an item because they responded that they did not experience sexual harassment or sexist behavior (SH/SB) and unwanted sexual contact (USC). For example: For respondents to be eligible to answer the questions in the “Unwanted Gender-Related Situation with the Greatest Effect” section of the instrument (see Appendix C) they had to have experienced SH or SB. Respondents who did not experience SH or SB are coded as “Does not apply - Did not experience.” Those respondents who are missing on the SH and SB items are coded as “Not applicable” value (.N). The dissection between “Does not apply - Did not experience” and “Not applicable” is for former the respondent is actively says they did not experience the behaviors and for the latter the responded skipped the items, and hence we don’t knew their status.

Special Coding Notes

1. SC017SPSK, SC017SPU. The following explains how to create the flag variable -- the codebook page should contain this information:

"SC017SPSK is an indicator of whether SC017SP were or were not to be asked of a respondent and its initial value is 1 (Not asked). If (SC017K = 2 OR SC017K = 3) then SC017SPSK = 2 (Asked)."

The following explains how the flag variable is used in editing -- the codebook page for the edited variable should contain this information:

"SC017SPU = SC017SP, but are unedited for forward coding of non-applicable or missing response values."

Here is how they are edited:

If SC017SPSK = 1 then do;
    SC017SP = '.N';
end;
```

.N = (Not Applicable)

2. SC018, SC018U. The following explains how Question 18 was edited -- the codebook page should contain this information:

SC018 was forward cleaned based on the values in Q17. If respondents answered 'Yes' (SAS values 2 or 3) to any item in Q17 and answered "Does not apply, I did not experience any of these behaviors" (SAS value 60) for SC018, then they were set to missing. If respondents had answered 'No' to one or more items in Q17 and did not answer Yes, then SC018 was set to 60. If the respondent was missing on all Q17, then they are set to missing on SC018.

The following explains how the flag variable is used in editing -- the codebook page for the edited variable should contain this information:

SC018U= SC018, but is unedited for forward coding of non-applicable or missing response values.

Here is how they are edited:

3. SC018SPSK, SC018SPU. The following explains how to create the flag variable -- the codebook page should contain this information:

"SC018SPSK is an indicator of whether SC018SP were or were not to be asked of a respondent and its initial value is 1 (Not asked). If SC018 = 5 then SC018SPSK = 2 (Asked)."

5. SC020, SC020U. The following explains how Question 24 was edited -- the codebook page should contain this information:

SC020 was forward cleaned based on the values in Q19. If respondents answered a value greater than 'Never' (SAS values 2, 3, 4, or 5) to any item in Q19 and answered "Does not apply, I marked 'Never' to every item" (SAS value 60) for SC020, then they were set to missing. If respondents had answered 'No' to one or more items in Q19 and did not answer Yes, then SC020 was set to 60. If the respondent was missing on all Q19, then they are set to missing on SC020.

The following explains how the flag variable is used in editing -- the codebook page for the edited variable should contain this information:

This procedure runs Proc SurveyMeans. Proc SurveyMeans uses Taylor series variance estimates and is one of a few procedures in SAS that applies sample design corrections to the estimated variances. Most commonly available statistical programs have little or no capability to compensate for survey sample designs and produce inaccurate variance estimates.

In the example below SB011A, ..., SB011J are the dependent variables. XACAD are the independent variables. The results for XACAD show the estimated eligible and ineligible population totals. Finite population correction is performed using the tots dataset.

Note that weighted ineligible records need to be included in all domain definitions in order to properly estimate variances even though the point estimates for the ineligible records may be of no interest. SAS does provide a macro that enables Proc SurveyMeans to analyze sub-populations without printing the point estimates of unwanted domains while still include the unwanted domain information in variance estimates.
