INTRODUCTION

This Special Bibliography Series, Number 113, "U.S.- China Relations: Cooperation or Conflict in the 21st Century," was developed by the McDermott Library's Social Sciences Bibliographer and Reference Librarian, Frances K. Scott, in support of the 54th Academy Assembly to be held at the United States Air Force Academy, 4 – 6 February 2013.

Most items cited in the bibliography are included in the McDermott Library's collections, including on-line databases. The program may compare traditional, modern, and future ideas on the meaning of power and influence. Areas of discussion may include:

- What are the implications of China's ascension on the geopolitical outlook for the Asia-Pacific region and the larger international community?
- How do developments in the various elements of Chinese power (diplomatic, military, economic, and soft) impact relations between China and the US?
- Will the relationship between the two nations be characterized by conflict or cooperation? In what areas will the two nations' interest converge or diverge? Why? How?

If you are a participant in this year's Academy Assembly (the Academy's oldest continuing annual event), we welcome you to your United States Air Force Academy. We hope that your stay in the Colorado Springs area will be rewarding and enjoyable and that you find this year's topic intellectually challenging.

We are pleased to make this bibliography available to other libraries free of charge as part of the Academy's gifts and exchanges program. Libraries wishing to receive this bibliography or to be on the permanent mailing list for future bibliographies should write to:
